Morals, mirth, millionaires

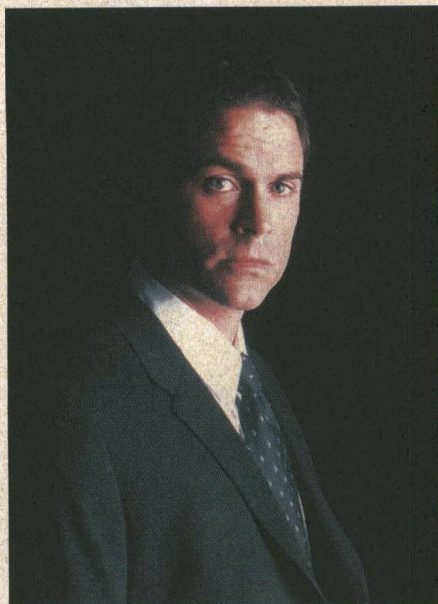

WHETHER or not to respond to the flirtatious advances of movie star Jeff Goldblum ... That was one of the moral dilemmas confronting Julia Bradbury during her ten-month stint three years ago as Hollywood correspondent for GMTV.

Now she is helping others to resolve their problems on Chat's Moral Dilemmas – problems such as: 'Should I indulge my husband with kinky sex?' But what about Jeff Goldblum? Did she give in to his advances? 'No. He flirts with everyone, that's just his nature, and in any case, he was in a relationship with Laura Dern.'

Bradbury, who lived in West Hollywood near the spot where Hugh Grant made friends with Divine Brown, became almost blasé about bumping into movie stars. In Fred Segal's clothing store, she once purchased knickers alongside Julia Roberts.

So go on, Julia, tell us what kind of underwear your namesake favours. 'Nothing out of the ordinary. Just regular Calvin Klein.'

JOHN WELLS, the creator of ER (see page 11), is one of the men behind The West Wing, 'a drama with humorous overtones' set in the Oval Office. An impressive cast is led by Martin Sheen and former Brat Packer Rob Lowe (above).

Sheen plays President Josiah Bartlet, a folksy, well-intentioned Democrat. Lowe plays the administration's driven Deputy Communications Director, Sam Seaborn, whose Achilles heel is his powerful libido.

The West Wing was devised and written by Aaron Sorkin, best known for writing A Few Good Men and The American President. Indeed, he enjoyed himself so much working on the latter that he decided to stick to the same subject matter for television – hey presto, The West Wing.

STEVE KNIGHT does not want the world to think that there is anything anoraky about him and his colleagues Mike Whitehill and David Briggs, but he admits they used to spend lunchtimes discussing quiz-show formats. They came up with the idea for a show, based on the notion of doubling the prize money for every correct answer. This grew into Who Wants to Be a Millionaire?, the hit game show presented by Chris Tarrant (above).

Also hugely popular in America – where the first jackpot prize was won last year – the show has made the trio wealthy men ... but not overnight.

'Four years ago,' recalls Knight, 'no UK broadcaster wanted quiz shows. Even if we could get past that obstacle, we had to raise the prize money.' They worked out that the income from premium phone lines would more than cover the prize fund and agreed to hand any surplus money to charity. But there were still complications. 'We knew nobody in their right mind would gamble £32,000, so we had to make it easier. That's when we came up with the multiple-choice idea. Then we thought they should see the answers first. But we still wanted it to be easier, so we devised the lifelines. We also thought about having a panel of experts they could ask, people like Carol Vorderman and Stephen Hawking.'

Now there's an idea ...

AUSTRALIA might be able to wipe the floor with us when it comes to rugby and cricket, but what about comedy? In Sky One's new series World Cup Comedy, the two nations battle it out for the undisputed comedy championship of the world. The British team – comics Bill Bailey, Ross Noble, Ed Byrne and Jeff Green – is captained by Rowland Rivron who knows a thing or two about comedy. He is currently developing a sitcom for BBC2 about two estate agents in a Middle England market town.

'A producer was asking whether I had any ideas,' he explains, 'so I started pitching this thing about estate agents. The first time I'd heard anything about it was when I heard myself talking about it!' And what of World Cup Comedy? Was the audience, at Sydney's Fox studios, not a little hostile? 'It wasn't too bad. Very sensibly, they'd made sure there were plenty of Brits there.'

... and a magical mystery

THE engaging Alan Davies is happy to acknowledge that he was not first, second, third or probably even fourth, fifth or sixth choice to play David Renwick's enigmatic magician-detective Jonathan Creek. Nicholas Lyndhurst and Hugh Laurie were considerably higher on the list, but eventually it was Davies who got the nod. He was auditioned on video and felt that he managed to look reasonably self-assured until his fellow-comedian Paul Merton – then married to Caroline Quentin, already cast in Jonathan Creek – asked Davies if he had been nervous. He admitted he had. 'Oh,' said Merton, 'Caroline saw your video audition and said you were shaking like a leaf.'

Still, it all ended happily and Davies has joined the likes of Billy Connolly, Eddie Izzard and Ardal O'Hanlon (see pages 12-13) in the ranks of stand-up comedians who have gone on to prove themselves as straight, or straight-ish, actors. Indeed, Davies now finds that audiences for his stand-up shows are no longer the young, hip lot they used to be, but include a sizeable proportion of slightly less hip Jonathan Creek fans.

'The older ones have to brace themselves,' he says. 'But doing Jonathan Creek has been good for my comedy career, really. I used to get a bit demoralised during a stand-up tour. I'd say, "Oh God, tomorrow Clapham, then Stoke." Now it's, "Oh great, tomorrow Kidderminster, then Derby, then Poole – how lovely!"'

Moreover, working with David Renwick, one of television's most exacting writers, has made him a more disciplined performer, he says. 'David won't stand for any changes. He has visualised every scene in his head and knows exactly what it should look like, which makes it a bit daunting to be in the lead role. Actually, I'm still quite new to it all, and before the first day of the first series I'd never been on a film set in my life. But I'm glad that people think I can act. I do think I'm fairly competent, and I'm learning all the time, but I also know I'm no Ian McKellen.'

FRIENDS
FROM THURSDAY 13TH,

An Elle of a girl for Joey

As the sixth and possibly last series of Friends starts on Sky One this month, Martyn Palmer asks how much longer the famous sextet will be there for you – and who's Joey's gorgeous new flatmate?

THE ANNUAL ritual of whether the makers of Friends have managed to sign up their stars for yet another highly lucrative contract has almost become as big a guessing game as whether Ross and Rachel will get back together again or Monica and Chandler will tie the knot.

In the States the speculation is about to reach fever pitch as the sixth series of the incredibly popular sitcom, which started in the US last autumn, could in theory be the last. But executive producer Kevin Bright is confident that all six stars – Jennifer Aniston (Rachel), Lisa Kudrow (Phoebe), Courteney Cox (Monica), Matthew Perry (Chandler), David Schwimmer (Ross) and Matt LeBlanc (Joey) – will sign up for at least two more years.

'So much that is good about this show is about this unit staying together,' says Bright. 'Obviously people want to try other things. But right now all of us see the six of them continuing.'

The present contract runs out in the summer and there is already speculation that any new offer will have to run well into six figures per episode to keep the starry sextet on the small screen.

'Contractually, this is their last year,' says Bright. 'And of course we hope to get them for more. And we will.' The chances are he's right. All six of the cast seem very happy with the way that the show has been going over the last two series. And all of them say that the Monica and Chandler romance – they move in together this season – has provided the opportunity for a creative boost.

'This season has been great fun so far,' says Matt LeBlanc. 'The writing's been good and the Chandler and Monica thing has had spin-offs for all the characters, which has been great. Even though it's a little sad to see Chandler abandon Joey like that.'

We shouldn't feel too sorry for Joey, though. After Chandler crosses the corridor to move in with Monica – and Rachel moves out to share with Phoebe – Joey decides to advertise for a new flatmate and finds one in the shapely form of Elle 'The Body' MacPherson.

'Having Elle as a roommate is not too bad, I guess,' he laughs. 'And she's great, she's working hard and it's a really funny idea. She has a lot of great jokes and it seems to be going very well.'

Other storylines include some important developments regarding Ross and Rachel's relationship. 'People really want them to be together,' says David Schwimmer, who directs one episode in the new series.

'Ross kind of lost it a little while ago and he's just coming back down to earth. But people are fascinated by the Rachel and Ross thing and it is like one of the great loves of your life, there is always going to be something there between them. I think before anything can happen in the future they have to go back to just having fun together and enjoy their friendship. And then, who knows?'

Like Schwimmer, Matthew Perry agrees that the cast are still enjoying the show and hints that they could be ready to sign on the dotted line.

'As long as it stays funny, creative and a fun place to be, then I'd like to stick around for as long as that happens,' he says, adding that the cast have a pact – if one goes, they all do. 'We got lucky that we all like each other and pretty much from day one we've done things as a group. I can't imagine we wouldn't do it that way in the future.'

SERIES

VAMPIRE SLAYER
FRIDAYS FROM 7TH
8.00PM

'We came back and it was like starting a whole new show. All our high school sets have been torn down; David [Boreanaz] is gone; Faith [Eliza Dushku] wasn't there and it was almost like having a new character for me to play. It's a time for Buffy to learn to make decisions on her own, and even though I sometimes feel, "Oh God, I've been doing this so long I can do this in my sleep," that is when I know I have to be even more on my game.'

It's all change for the Slayer and her Slayerettes. Buffy, Willow (Alyson Hannigan) and Oz (Seth Green) have begun college life at UC Sunnydale, while Angel (Boreanaz) and Cordelia (Charisma Carpenter) have travelled to Los Angeles, where their paths are destined to cross in the spin-off series Angel (see page 143). Giles (Anthony Stewart Head) no longer has a job after the destruction of Sunnydale High, while Xander (Nicholas Brendon) has disappeared on holiday. But the vampires are still gathering around the Hellmouth and Buffy still has her slaying duties to carry out. Whether these will be helped or hindered by the mysterious balaclava-clad commando figures that keep crossing her path remains to be seen.

Aside from devoting herself to her studies – particularly those for the class run by the exacting Professor Walsh – Buffy finds love in the shape of fellow student Parker (Adam Kaufman). Elsewhere, Willow and Oz are still inseparable, although things are never quite as they seem. And after his experiences with the Praying Mantis teacher, the Inca Mummy Girl and Faith, the slayer-turned-bad, Xander might strike lucky as well over the coming weeks – though his choice of partner is unusual even by his standards. And the evil Spike (James Marsters) returns to Sunnydale with a new girlfriend in tow – someone Buffy and co thought died in the battle against the Mayor.

Despite landing his very own series, Angel hasn't been forgotten – there are at least three cross-over episodes planned for this season. 'Although the two shows will remain separate, David will appear on Buffy and Sarah will appear on Angel,' creator Joss Whedon confirms. 'It's pretty gut-wrenching stuff.'

The change from high school to college has allowed the producers an opportunity to explore new areas. As Nicholas Brendon says, 'We can now tell the stories we wanted to tell in the first two years.' All the mistakes that people make in their college years are going to happen to Buffy and her friends – from falling for dumb chat-up lines to over-indulging in alcohol. Giles and Xander aren't ignored either – Buffy may not have an official Watcher any more, but she still needs the resources that Giles has to offer and Xander is generally willing to lend a hand with the research.

But the monsters are never far away and the Slayer will certainly have her hands full for another year.

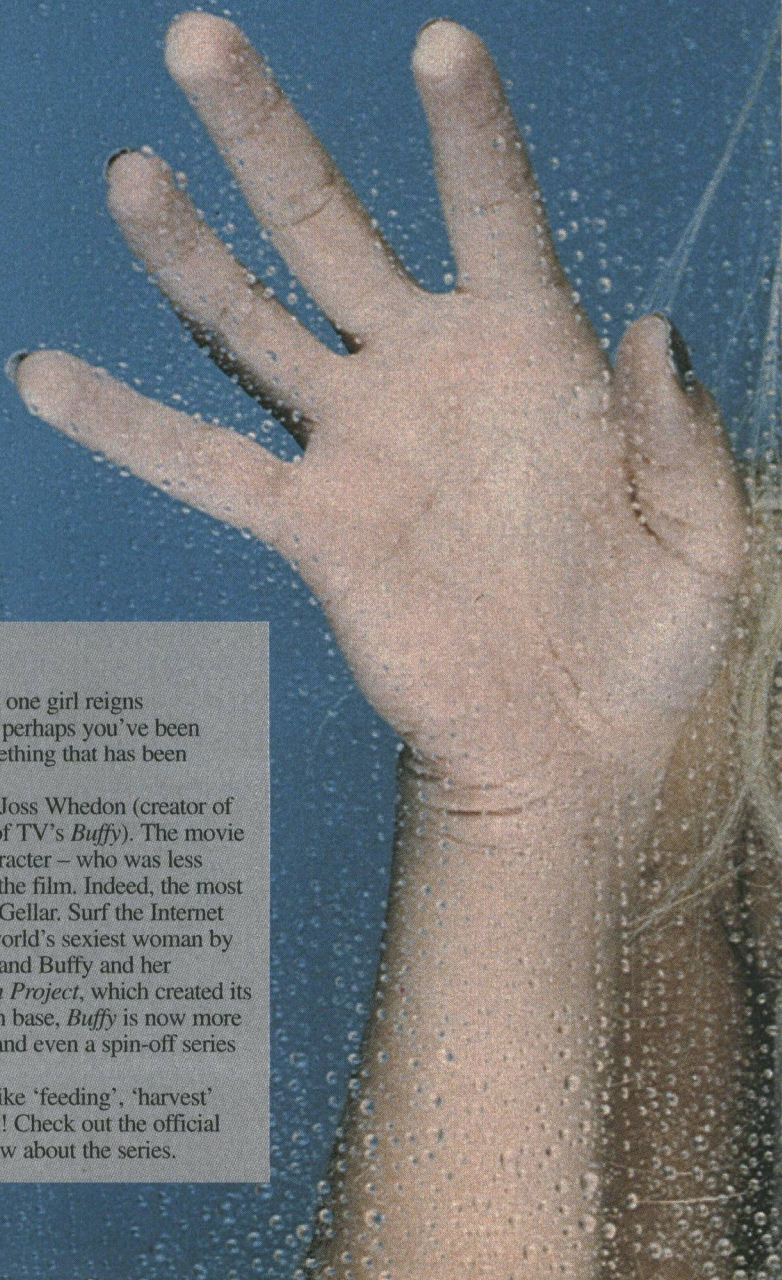

THIS year is a very interesting one for me,' says Sarah Michelle Gellar, best known as Buffy the Vampire Slayer, whose fourth year of adventures begins this month on Sky One.

You're so vein

As Buffy the Vampire Slayer

returns to Sky One to stake out new territory this month,

Patrick Holm talks to Sunnydale's slay belle, Sarah Michelle Gellar

Buffymania conquers all!

In the dark world of demons, werewolves and blood-sucking beasties, one girl reigns supreme – Buffy the Vampire Slayer! And if you haven't heard of her, perhaps you've been locked behind a dimensional portal for the past couple of years – something that has been known to happen in Sunnydale, home of the Slayer!

Buffy was first played by Kirsty Swanson in a 1992 film written by Joss Whedon (creator of the series) and directed by Fran Rubel Kuzui (an executive producer of TV's Buffy). The movie was a mindlessly enjoyable romp, but there were no hints that the character – who was less sympathetic in this original incarnation – could be developed beyond the film. Indeed, the most valuable asset to the show is the affable and beautiful Sarah Michelle Gellar. Surf the Internet and you'll find countless sites devoted to Gellar, who was voted the world's sexiest woman by FHM readers. Her devoted admirers in cyberspace call her a goddess and Buffy and her co-stars now have an incredible following. Not unlike The Blair Witch Project, which created its own mythology on the Internet and went on to develop a huge cult fan base, Buffy is now more than just a TV series. There are Buffy books, comics, websites, a CD and even a spin-off series revolving around Buffy's former lover, Angel.

If you're not a fan, then you'll need to read up on the lingo. Words like 'feeding', 'harvest' and 'watcher' have a different meaning in the Slayer's mystical world! Check out the official Buffy website, www.buffy.com, for everything you could want to know about the series.

WIN BUFFY BOOKS!

Here's your chance to get the lowdown on Buffy the Vampire Slayer – in spine-tingling detail. Slayer: The Totally Cool Unofficial Guide to Buffy is a comprehensive guide to everything that goes on in vampire-infested Sunnydale.

FEW people are better placed than Sir David Frost to host the new National Geographic Channel series Millennium Monday – a 13-week spotlight on the world at the end of the 20th century, as seen through the eyes of various National Geographic film-makers and personalities.

The famous broadcaster has met face-to-face with just about every important world leader and personality in his illustrious 30-year career. 'I think this series is well-timed,' says Frost, who will be introducing the programmes from near the site of London's Millennium Dome. 'It's a good time for looking back as well as forward.'

The series opens with a National Geographic special about man's relationship with time, from the Big Bang to current environmental concerns about the future of the planet. Narrated by American actor John Lithgow (Third Rock from the Sun), the hour-long programme also looks into the work of Dr Robert Ballard, who found the wreck of the Titanic; anthropologist Jane Goodall, celebrated for her work with monkeys; and the marine biologist Jacques Cousteau.

'The series includes a rich diet of topics, in particular where the human spirit triumphs,' explains Frost. 'There is tremendous interest in the lessons we can learn from the past.'

Among the subjects included this month are the sinking of the Titanic, the history of expeditions to the Antarctic, and the opening up of the American West. But warfare – from the effects of the Gulf War on the environment to the military's use of dogs during Vietnam – remains the over-riding theme.

'War in the 20th century taught us that there is such a thing as evil, with men like Stalin and Hitler,' says Frost. 'But that is balanced by the courage and self-sacrifice of those who enabled the peace.'

Frost's own memories of the past are closely linked to the many celebrities he has interviewed. From political leaders to entertainers and sports personalities, the span is remarkable – Prince Charles, Margaret Thatcher, John Wayne, Mikhail Gorbachev, Henry Kissinger, Groucho Marx, Alfred Hitchcock, Noel Coward and Bill Clinton, to name just a handful.

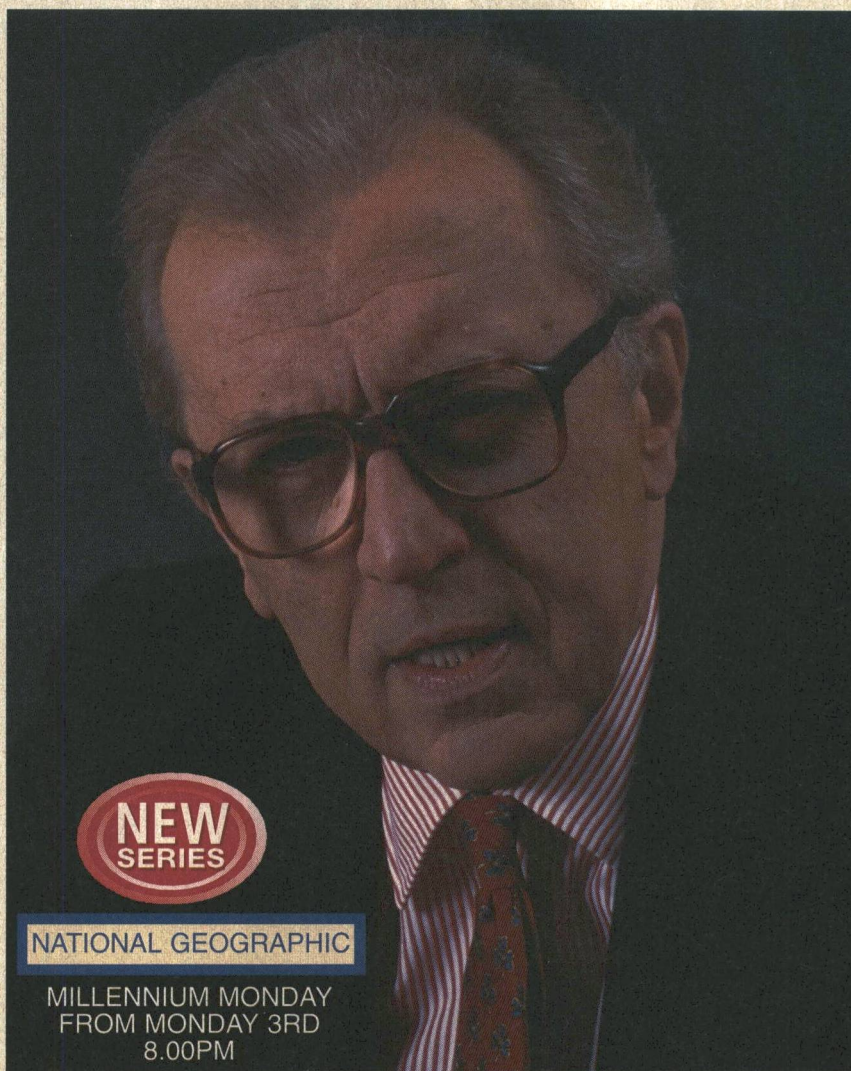

A Frost interview is often a news event in itself – witness Richard Nixon's revelations and admission of guilt years after the Watergate scandal. The conversation between the two men is said to have attracted a television audience of some one billion people.

'I suppose my personal favourite would be Nixon, but the most charismatic person I talked with was Senator Robert Kennedy,' says Frost, when pressed to select his most memorable subject.

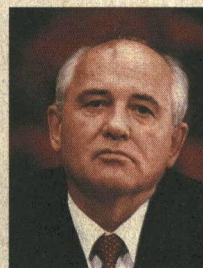

'I did his last long personal interview before he was assassinated, and I just couldn't believe it had happened.' Among those he would like to have had the opportunity to grill are Hitler and Stalin. 'It would have been daunting to have interviewed them,' he smiles.

THE NAKED CITY

Described as 'ER on acid', Sky One's new drama series Third Watch offers a view of New York through the eyes of those who see it at its most dangerous. Daphne Lockyer dials 911 ...

Tales of the city: the cast of Third Watch, including (above) Kim Raver and Eddie Cibrian, hit New York's mean streets

THE NATURAL heir to ER – one of the most successful television series ever made – is how US drama

Third Watch has been billed, and with good reason. Because Sky One's new drama series was conceived and created by ER's John Wells and Christopher Chulack, the TV moguls with the Midas touch.

'But this time we're going beyond the ER and out into the dangerous twilight streets of New York City,' says the latter of his new baby. 'We're going to show you life out there through the eyes of people who see it at its most vivid and perilous – police, paramedics and firefighters.'

Not for the faint-hearted, Third Watch, which also comes from Warner Bros. Television, has been described as 'ER on acid' and is a pulse-raising, rollercoaster ride of intermeshed stories, relationships and action.

Whereas ER confines itself mostly to the work and lives of one team of co-workers in a Chicago casualty department, Third Watch goes out onto the front line of New York with the men and women from all the emergency services who work the dangerous 3.00pm to 11.00pm shift (hence the title), and shows the various ways in which their lives interconnect.

'We shot stories out on the streets in "real time" so that whatever was happening in the backdrop was allowed to happen and was included in the film,' Chulack explains.

'We wanted New York itself to be the final character in the drama. And to show what an unpredictable, dangerous, colourful character it can be. At the same time, we wanted the audience to develop a relationship with the guys who are out there saving lives, keeping law and order, cheating death. Without that no one could care less.'

As the 22 one-hour episodes develop, Chulack is confident we'll be on the edge of our seats worrying about these characters '... as though they were family. That's when we'll know that we've really done our job.'

The ensemble drama showcases actors who will largely be unknown to a British audience. 'But then, who knew any of the actors from ER when that first aired?' asks Chulack.

It's a difficult prediction to make, but the likely favourites to emerge from the series include beautiful young actress Kim Raver, who plays tough paramedic Kim Zambrano. 'It was wonderful to take a role where for once you didn't have to wear heels and make-up,' she smiles.

Then there's Jason Wiles and Molly Price, who play cops Maurice 'Bosco' Boscorelli and Yokas, and Michael Beach as paramedic Monte 'Doc' Parker.

In total, there are nine regulars – two women and seven men – and at least three of the guys are vying for the 'Dr Ross' award for raising female heartbeats to a dangerous level.

Frontrunner seems to be Eddie Cibrian, who appears as heroic firefighter Jimmy Doherty. But is he ready to star in the female fantasies of the smoke, flames and fireman's lift variety? 'Get outta here!' he laughs.

Life without George

SERIES

Despite a gloomy prognosis, ER required no emergency treatment when George Clooney discharged himself from the last series. Words: Martyn Palmer

ACCORDING to actor Paul McCrane, who plays the wonderfully horrible Dr Robert Romano in ER, it's going to be a very interesting sixth series for the world's favourite medical drama.

'You know, we're not really allowed to give too much away,' grins McCrane. 'But I can tell you that Nurse Hathaway's (Julianna Margulies) baby is, in fact, Robert Romano's. And there is some talk of an affair between Eriq La Salle's character and mine, but I can't really discuss that yet. Oh, and there is this paternity suit thing as well!' The star is, as ER fans will know, only joking.

On set at the Warner Bros. studio in Los Angeles, where ER is filmed, there is, apparently, a lot of joking. And now that George Clooney – who not only played dishy Dr Doug Ross but was the resident on-set clown – has left to devote himself to making movies, it seems other cast members have taken up where he left off.

Actress Michael Michele, one of a handful of newcomers brought into the show, was understandably nervous on her arrival. 'I was a bit anxious,' admits Michele, who plays Dr Cleo Finch. 'I had some scenes to do with a tiny baby and it was my first day. Then someone put a whoopie cushion on my chair and I'm pretty sure it was Eriq La Salle [Dr Benton]!'

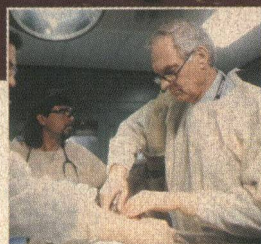

It all helps to build up camaraderie among cast and crew. And all agree, post-Clooney, how important that is. But while the spirit of Clooney may linger on, it's easy to detect that certain members of the team are getting just a little bit fed up with questions about gorgeous George. Could he make a dramatic return? Lydia Woodward, one of ER's executive producers, is not so sure.

'George has expressed an interest and a willingness to come back, but that's not the issue,' she explains. 'The issue is really where our storytelling will go, and if we internally decide that there is a need for that character to return.'

In other words, ER may not need George after all. Instead, they want to concentrate on the season ahead, building up new characters and telling cracking stories. Just what they've always been good at.

'George was an integral part of the show and him leaving did change things,' says Noah Wyle (Dr John Carter). 'But the show would have had to reinvent itself in some way to stay current and popular. George leaving was just the catalyst for what I think was going to be inevitable.'

So exactly what is going to happen? Well, what we do know is that Wyle's character, for instance, will become romantically involved with a patient (played by Rebecca De Mornay). And he, for one, is delighted with the way his character and stories are developing: 'I'm very happy with the work. I've really been enjoying it this year.'

There's a dishy new doctor, too – but don't dare mention that he could be built up as the new Clooney-style heart-throb. It's Dr Luka Kovac (Goran Visnjic) who will set pulses racing; then there's Dr Greene (Anthony Edwards) and Dr Elizabeth Corday (Alex Kingston), who are having a bit of a fling – and don't forget that her last on-screen romance was with Dr Peter Benton.

'The problem for poor old Corday,' says Kingston, 'is that she works so long and hard in the ER that there's no life outside of it. I think with Dr Greene it's much more balanced than with Benton and we are taking it much more slowly. I think Corday rather jumped on Benton – and this time Greene has jumped on Corday!'

With medical admissions of that variety going on, it makes you wonder whether Paul McCrane was only joking after all ...

ER, THURSDAYS
FROM 13TH, 9.30PM

AS A CHILD growing up in the small Irish border town of Carrickmacross, Ardal O'Hanlon did not watch very much television. He was discouraged from doing so by his parents – particularly his father, a politician who rose to become Ireland's Health Minister. 'Television was seen as a bad thing,' recalls O'Hanlon.

Ironical, then, that it was television which eventually made the comedian as much a household name in Ireland as his father, Fianna Fáil's Dr Rory O'Hanlon.

In Father Ted – Channel 4's surreal comedy about three Catholic priests and their housekeeper, which arrives on Paramount Comedy Channel this month – O'Hanlon was brilliant as the blissfully unworldly Father Dougal McGuire, a man who was never sure whether cows looked small because they were far away, or because they were actually small. And in so doing he ensured Dougal joined a list of immortal comedy innocents, alongside Private Pike in Dad's Army and Lennie Godber in Porridge.

The man himself, of course, is somewhat more knowing than Dougal, although no less engaging. When we meet in Dublin, O'Hanlon is expensively dressed but of pallid complexion, as you might expect of a man who spends a lot of time being successful indoors. Not that he would dream of proclaiming his success from the rooftops, still less from the pages of Hello! magazine. If he has an ego, it is buried under layers of self-deprecation. All the same, it must take a rare self-assurance to stride on stage, alone, and reduce an audience to fits of laughter. This he has done countless times, in his other manifestation as an accomplished stand-up.

'Yes, but I am a terrible bag of nerves before a live show,' he explains. 'I think, "Why am I doing this to myself, to my family?" I cannot rationalise it. So I don't really think I'm a self-confident person. Or rather, I don't know. I waver violently between arrogance and utter insecurity, often in the same minute.'

His performing skills were honed in lively sixth-form debates during his otherwise pretty miserable time at Blackrock College, a Dublin boarding school.

In 1988, O'Hanlon set told him that they were working on a sitcom and would give him a shout when they got round to casting. It was a long time coming. But one day Mathews phoned up to find out whether he was still interested in the project.

By this time O'Hanlon had moved to London, telling his girlfriend, Melanie (now his wife, and mother of their two young children), that he would give himself two years to make it, or else return to Ireland with his tail between his legs.

'But my ambition was only to play bigger and better comedy clubs,' he says. 'I had no thoughts of television.' However, the rapport he struck up in an audition with Dermot Morgan, already cast as Father Ted, made O'Hanlon the up a pioneering comedy club in Dublin with a group of friends. It enjoyed modest success, but had to overcome an aversion, or at any rate indifference, to comedians.

'The Irish have always prided themselves on being funny, so why pay to laugh at someone you don't know when your friends can do it for free?' he says.

'Nevertheless, the likes of Eddie Izzard and Jack Dee would sometimes pass through the city, and we would go and revere them.'

It was following a comedy gig in Dublin that O'Hanlon had the encounter that would change his life. A pair of writers, Arthur Mathews and Graham Linehan, obvious choice to play Dougal. The rest is a little bit of British TV history, and quite a large bit of Irish TV history.

'At first, Irish television was very nervous about Father Ted,' O'Hanlon recalls. 'Some of the older members of the clergy were certainly very upset by it, and started a half-hearted campaign to have us incarcerated. But it became just about the most popular show ever in Ireland. And younger priests either genuinely loved it or pretended to love it, because it made them look hip.'

'Mind you, why wouldn't they love it? I have very mixed feelings about the Catholic church myself. But it wasn't hard on the church.'

'I thought it humanised the church, actually.' It would, I was once told, have been a sight harder on the Catholic church had Dermot Morgan written it.

'Yes, Dermot had it in for the church all right,' says O'Hanlon. He wipes away the first stirrings of a tear. When Morgan died, aged 45, nobody outside the immediate family was more devastated than O'Hanlon. They had become inseparable. I wonder, had he learnt anything from the older man? 'Only how to be late for everything and a few other unpleasant habits, which I'm not going to tell you about. But we did have a lot in common. We both came from a non-theatrical background, and we both had ... I wouldn't say suspicion or contempt ... but a casual approach towards the acting thing.'

So Morgan must have had a chuckle, wherever he was, when O'Hanlon made his serious acting debut in the ITV drama Big Bad World. He has, until now, resisted numerous sitcom offers, on the basis that few could measure up to Father Ted. But in the BBC's forthcoming My Hero he plays a superhero from another planet, who winds up in Northolt, Middlesex.

It's a long way from Craggy Island, but maybe that's what O'Hanlon has in mind.

He doesn't want us to think of him forever as Father Dougal, in which respect, he might be disappointed.

Eyes down for the BIG National Code & Number Changes

The National Code and Number Changes are a BIG reorganisation of the UK's telephone numbering system.

Increased demand for phone numbers, for example for mobile phones and Internet access, means that the UK is running short of new numbers. The changes will create a Code Family which will allow phone users to easily identify the type of call they are making, and at what rate they will be charged, together with ensuring we have plenty of new numbers in store for the future.

It is now possible to call any of the areas in the table opposite using the new codes and local numbers. When dialling locally within the 6 areas, continue to use existing local numbers until 22 April 2000. Old codes and local numbers will also continue to work for a short 'changeover period'. The changes will only affect the numbers dialled - not the cost of the call!

By April 2001 all old and new numbers for the following services will also change; mobile/pager codes will begin 07, special rate codes will begin 08 and premium rate codes will begin 09.

For further information on the changes visit our web site or call Customer Services.

SABRINA the Teenage Witch star Melissa Joan Hart was just four years old when she begged her mother to get her on the telly after falling in love with an American children's TV show called Romper Room.

Against the odds her mother, Paula Hart, obliged and little Melissa appeared in a commercial for bathtub toys. The tot never stopped working, and her first major TV series, Clarissa Explains It All, was nominated for an Emmy, American TV's equivalent to the Oscars. Melissa has been a runaway success but admits that her swift rise to fame and fortune has not always brought her happiness, and that if she had children she wouldn't let them go into acting until they were at least 18 years old.

'I have always had trouble fitting in,' she says. 'When I was at high school I just didn't know how to fit in. It was weird, I had already been working for so long. I always got on with people 20 years older than me better than with kids my own age. I still prefer to socialise with older people.'

'It was all right when I was very little because I was just a girl with a hobby, but after Clarissa things got more difficult. Then it became a career and it got in the way of other things.'

Nowadays Melissa is a more than usually mature 23-year-old, but she still finds herself stuck in a time warp as a teen idol.

'I look younger than I am and it's difficult for people to accept that I am my age,' she reveals.

She recently caused controversy when she posed for men's magazine Maxim and gave a frank interview in which she expressed her views on sex and revealed a passion for downing large amounts of the fiery Mexican spirit tequila.

'That interview caused a lot of trouble,' she admits. 'I thought it was pretty harmless and so did my mother, but it really caused problems. I was promoting my new movie, Drive Me Crazy, and as this is a more adult project I thought I would give a more adult kind of interview. I didn't do it deliberately to change my image or anything, it just happened.'

'But there is no doubt that the teen idol thing is difficult to live up to. You go into people's homes every night, they think they know you and you do have a responsibility to them. You are expected to behave in a certain way, and it can be tough. It is very difficult for me to go out and have a good time with friends without people wanting to know what I'm up to.'

Melissa is the eldest of seven siblings, the youngest just three, all of whom are already launched on showbiz careers. Paula Hart is the ultimate Hollywood mum. She manages all her children and takes a production role in their projects whenever possible. Paula is a producer of the new Sabrina, the Animated Series on the Disney Channel, in which Melissa provides the voices of Sabrina's aunts while her 13-year-old sister, Emily, plays the teenage witch herself.

'Emily is way ahead of how I was at her age,' she announces rather ominously.

And of her role as the aunts she jokes: 'At least I am playing people older than myself, even if I am not seen on screen!'

A new Lisa life

PHOTOS: MOVIESTORE, GEORGE LANGE/CORBIS OUTLINE

She made her name playing dizzy blondes, but Lisa Kudrow – best known as Phoebe in Friends – feels more at home in her strait-laced role in the film premiere The Opposite of Sex, writes Garth Pearce

LISA KUDROW is not at all what she seems. Her Emmy-nominated role as Phoebe in Friends – the blonde, dizzy, hippy who never seems to quite get the point – has made her one of the world's best-known airheads. But the 36-year-old actress is as shrewd a woman as ever dyed her hair.

Trained as a scientist, she lived up to her high school nickname of 'Einstein'. With no time for boyfriends, the bookish Kudrow entered one of America's most highly rated women's universities, New York's Vassar College. After graduating in biology, she went on to work with her father researching the treatment of headaches.

It is ironic that Kudrow's role in a black comedy, The Opposite of Sex – which premieres this month on Sky Box Office – has suddenly brought her past back into sharp focus. She plays Lucia, a sexually repressed guardian of morals who attempts to hold on to her values in small-town Indiana.

'This was my own kind of life,' she reveals. 'I was very serious about morals, particularly sexual ones. If anything, I was a puritan right into my twenties. I don't even know why. In England, I would have been known as a prude. In America they called me uptight. So I felt that, at last, I was playing someone close to myself.'

Her character is the best friend of homosexual English teacher Bill (Martin Donovan). Lucia, who is also a teacher, is disapproving when his wayward half-sister Dedee (Christina Ricci) moves in, and her suspicions are confirmed when Dedee sets about seducing his boyfriend, Matt (Ivan Sergei), and soon persuades him to abandon his gay lifestyle.

The love triangle is further complicated when Matt's former love not only publicly 'outs' Bill, but also frames him for sexual harassment at his school. Kudrow's Lucia attempts to help her dedicated schoolteacher friend to clear his name, while slowly becoming romantically involved with an admirer (played by Lyle Lovett).

'When I was in my early twenties, I remember my mother suggesting that I ought to become more affectionate with my boyfriend,' says Kudrow. 'Holding hands and kissing in public was never my style. It all made it so very easy to play Lucia. She's an uptight woman, cynical of people's faults and very slow to allow her barriers to come down.'

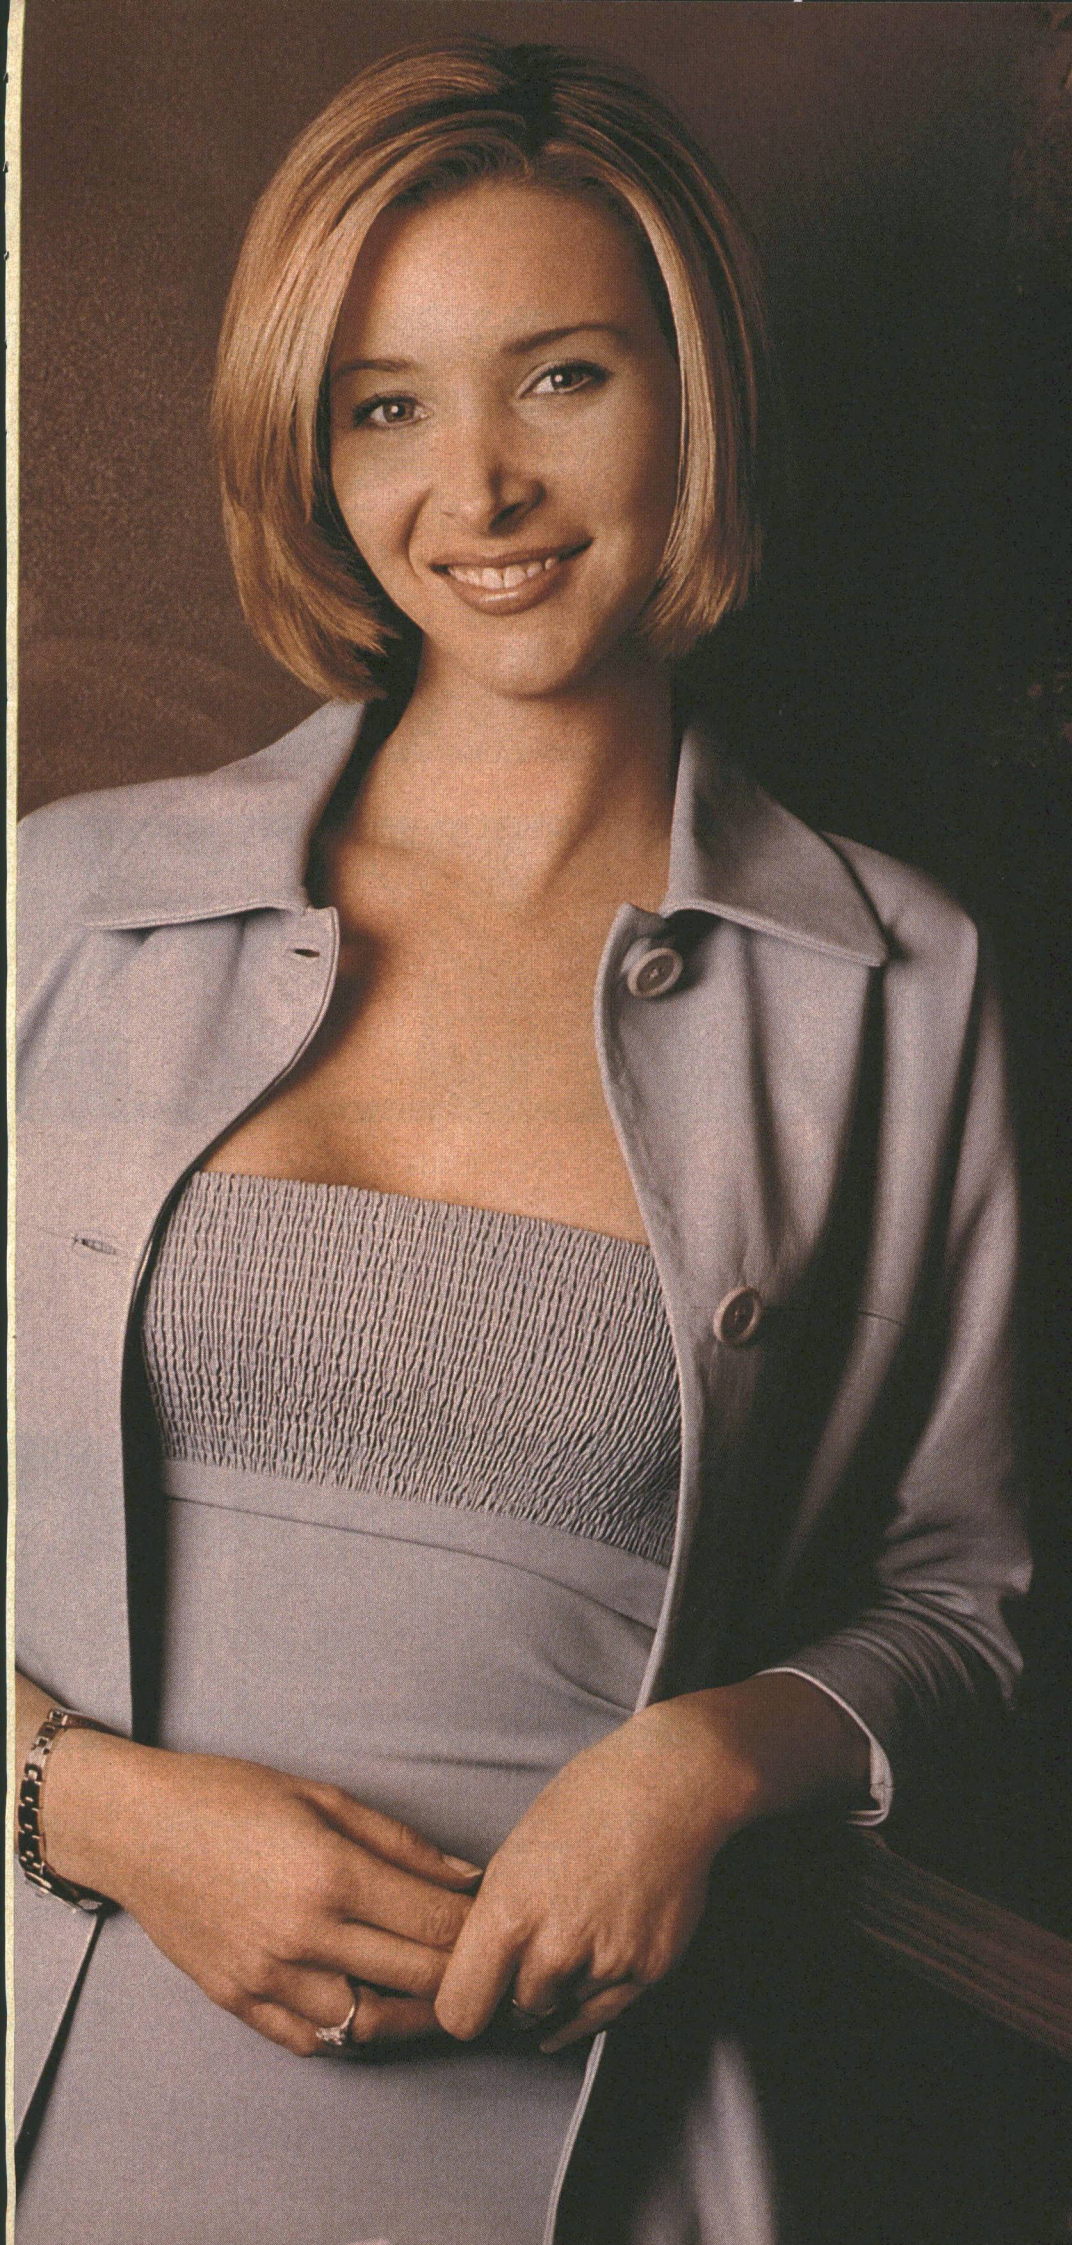

The highly watchable film won Kudrow a Best Supporting Actress award from the New York Film Critics Association and changed Hollywood's view of the actress as someone who can deliver more than lightweight, daffy humour. This new lease of acting life could not have come at a better time, since Friends, now in its sixth season, could be in danger of slipping into a comedic version of the now defunct show thirtysomething, as the cast age along with their characters.

Kudrow, whose pregnancy was used by the Friends scriptwriters as part of their storyline, showed just how ambitious she is by starring in Analyze This. The recently released comedy, teaming Robert De Niro and Billy Crystal, was made just three weeks after the birth of her son Julian – who's now 20 months old. She also used a break earlier this year to squeeze in a role as Meg Ryan's sister in the forthcoming comedy-drama Hanging Up. Her husband, advertising executive Michael Stern, gives her what she calls 'absolute support'.

Kudrow usually manages to translate her pale skin and slender 5ft 8inch tall figure into a healthy roundness, energy and beauty on screen. 'I have to stay slim for the camera and I am always watching my weight,' she says rather ruefully. 'They notice if you don't. Magazines will take photographs and put captions under with remarks like "worst dressed" and "fatty".' So how on earth has she transformed herself from a dark-haired, serious intellectual to someone who can fret over such apparently trivial things?

'Some may say it was my misfortune,' she says. 'I did not regard acting as a particularly worthwhile occupation and, in some ways, still don't. I had graduated and was working with my father. My brother, David [a neurosurgeon] was friendly with an actor called Jon Lovitz, who had been on Saturday Night Live. He, for some reason, always found me entertaining and suggested I would enjoy working with an improvisational instructor. I think he said it would get me out more. Instead, it was more stimulating than I could have imagined.'

Ten years ago, Kudrow hired an acting teacher and joined a part-time improvisational group in Los Angeles, called The Groundlings, who put on Whose Line is it Anyway-style comedy shows. She changed her hair colour, adopted a broad smile and found she had a knack for airheads rather than eggheads. Parts in Cheers (as Woody's girlfriend), Newhart and Coach, followed before she was cast, fleetingly, as Frasier's radio producer Roz Doyle.

'It did not feel right,' recalls Kudrow, who was replaced by actress Peri Gilpin for the pilot episode. Then, suddenly, there was a breakthrough. Kudrow was given a role as gormless waitress Ursula in the NBC comedy Mad About You. It led directly to her role as the ditzy Phoebe in Friends.

Her first big-screen role, in Romy and Michele's High School Reunion alongside Mira Sorvino, saw the star dumbing down yet again as an under-achiever who tries to pass herself off as wealthy and successful.

The Opposite of Sex marks the start of the end of Kudrow's trademark ability to play the fool. 'Friends has been great,' she says. 'But we all know that there is a limit to the energy and success of a TV show. The cast [Jennifer Aniston, Courteney Cox, Matthew Perry, Matt LeBlanc and David Schwimmer] have been regularly doing films and I am probably a late developer. Doing things slowly seems to have been the story of my life.'

FILMS ON CA

THE ITALIAN JOB

BACK in 1964, when Italian director Sergio Leone kicked off the spaghetti Western craze with A Fistful of Dollars, as many Westerns were made by German studios on location in Yugoslavia as by Hollywood. Leone's quickie – an Italian-German-Spanish co-production whose exteriors were shot in the Spanish desert – seemed another one of a posse of increasingly strange mutations of the cowboy movie. An unauthorised remake of Japanese filmmaker Akira Kurosawa's samurai drama Yojimbo, which in turn was an unsanctioned rip-off of Dashiell Hammett's crime novel Red Harvest, A Fistful of Dollars was also the first lead film role for Clint Eastwood, then known as a TV pretty boy after several seasons of rollin', rollin', rollin' with Rawhide. Eastwood, who grew stubble but kept his Elvis-style pompadour for the film, landed the part because James Coburn was busy.

No one could have guessed that Fistful, known as Per un pugno di dollari in its home territory, would elevate Leone, to the pantheon of greats, establish Eastwood as the superstar he remains 36 years on, and change forever the look and style of Hollywood's oldest, most beloved, most archetypal genre. It was said at the time that the films in Leone's so-called

There had been European cowboy movies before A Fistful of Dollars, but none had the wit and style of this seminal Italian Western and its sequels

Words: Kim Newman

Dollars trilogy, which continued with For a Few Dollars More and The Good, the Bad and the Ugly, were more realistic depictions of life on the grim 19th-century Tex-Mex frontier, but they are far more simple than the psychological Westerns, such as High Noon and Shane, Hollywood made in the Fifties and early Sixties. Though the body counts are higher, Leone's Westerns are as morally cut-and-dried as the Gene Autry or Hopalong Cassidy oaters turned out for kiddie matinees in the Thirties and Forties. Eastwood guns down a great many people but you can be in no doubt that every one of them deserved what was coming to him.

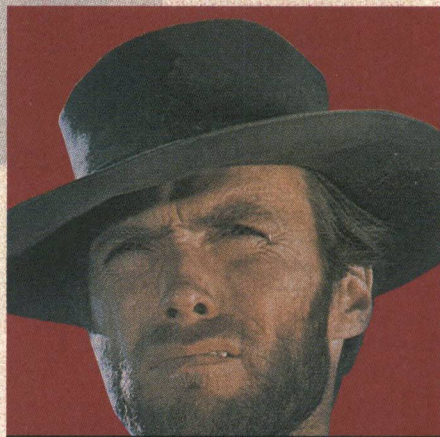

While American Westerns were full of self-doubting heroes and tempting women, the Dollars films portray men who know exactly what they want, whether it be gold or vengeance, and barely allow women on the screen, let alone suggest any romantic involvement for the chaste hero. Not until Once Upon a Time in the West, the superproduction Leone made after the trilogy, would a woman (Claudia Cardinale) get anything like a role and, as in the Dollars films, only the bad and the ugly are interested in her sexually.

The 'realism' of the trilogy is extreme stylisation, with every technique – editing, photography, costuming, Ennio Morricone's scores, staging – drawing attention to itself. The films may be all surface, but that's the point: Leone didn't need well-rounded characters when one squint from the sneering, smoking Clint or his quick-draw opponents – Gian Maria Volontè's brutish bandito in the first two Dollars films, and Lee Van Cleef's Angel Eyes in the third – conveys so much.

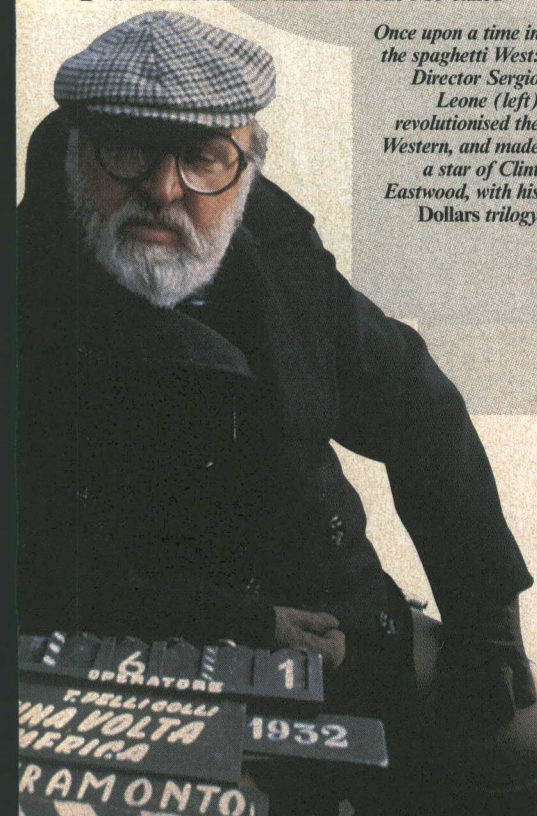

He became known as The Man With No Name, but Clint Eastwood's character has a different semi-name for each movie – Joe, Monco, Blondie. His occupation changes, from manipulative hired gun to bounty hunter to wayward mercenary, but he is the same man, apparently a money-seeking stone-cold killer but actually an angel of justice. The Good, the Bad and the Ugly, the most epic of the trilogy, is a prequel that shows his character picking up the cheroot cigar, the hat, the sheepskin waistcoat and the poncho that comprise his distinctive costume, but also learning the compassion that makes him the Good. To take the edge off this Old Testament righteousness, the Dollars films are also as much absurdist comedies as action films, with the Man With No Name's schemes always having a funny side, such as when he continually turns in Eli Wallach's Tuco for the reward money, then rescues him from hanging to push up the bounty in The Good, the Bad and the Ugly.

These movies, with their widescreen spectacle, ritualistic shoot-outs and tiny period details are endlessly watchable. Other directors would build on Leone's foundations and add character depths to their Westerns, as would Leone himself when he turned his attentions away from individual cinematic squabbles to the rise of a criminal nation in Once Upon a Time in the West. But few films offer such striking, seductive, simple pleasures.

ED BYRNE

What is your favourite movie and why? The Robin Williams film The World According to Garp. It's a great story from start to finish. Who is your favourite actor? Walter Matthau. I love the fact that he's so grumpy and looks old even in his early films. What is your favourite movie memory? Al Pacino's speech at the end of Glengarry Glen Ross. It was the first time I'd heard an American blaspheme in a film. What is the scariest moment you've seen on film? It would have to be the climax of Alien where you really think Sigourney Weaver has escaped but the alien is on board the shuttle craft. I was quite young when I saw it and very easily scared. What is your favourite weepie? Another Robin Williams film - Awakenings. ● Ed Byrne can be seen in World Cup Comedy, Sky One, starting Sunday 16th 10.00pm

MY MOST MEMORABLE MATCH

New Zealand's historic win over South Africa in August 1996 – when they avenged their 1995 World Cup final defeat – is Sky Sports rugby union commentator Stuart Barnes's favourite moment. By Ross Biddiscombe

This was quite simply the greatest game of rugby I've ever seen and it just happened to be my first as a live Test match co-commentator. 'The All Blacks played brilliantly that day [to claim victory in the second Test 26-33] to clinch their first ever series win in South Africa, so it meant a great deal. I remember their captain Sean Fitzpatrick banging his fists on the turf at the final whistle with tears of joy in his eyes. 'Miles Harrison and I had lost all control by then. Our chairs had been knocked over and we were screaming at the tops of our voices. I was so lost in the moment that I inadvertently declared I was "here in Pretoria" as I described the scenes at the end of the game even though we did the commentary

O'Neill hopes to outfox Everton

The Toffees could come unstuck against a Leicester side chasing a place in Europe.

By Gerry Cox

MARTIN O'NEILL takes his Leicester City side to Goodison Park for the first big Sky match of the new millennium – but it could have been so different if he had become Everton's manager. The Merseysiders wanted O'Neill to take over as manager 18 months ago when Howard Kendall was sacked by the club, but the mercurial Irishman chose to stay with Leicester, whom he had taken into Europe after winning the Coca-Cola Cup the previous year. Everton appointed former Rangers manager Walter Smith and have since seen an improvement, while the East Midlands side have gone from strength to strength despite limited resources and a boardroom power battle that has raged for most of the season.

There are no big name stars in the side, but a great collective effort from players such as Neil Lennon and Muzzy Izzet. Izzet started at Chelsea but his career really took off when he moved to Leicester. Izzet said: 'There are a lot of players here who owe their careers to Martin O'Neill.' And just like his mentor Brian Clough, who was his manager at Nottingham Forest two decades ago, O'Neill is something of a maverick. 'There is no great secret to what he does,' adds Izzet. 'He just tells us to go out on to the pitch, work hard and enjoy ourselves.'

Gerry Cox previews this month's crucial First Division match

IF YOU had said to the fans of Manchester City and Fulham a year ago that they would start the new millennium knocking on the door of the Premier League, they would most probably have laughed or cried. There have been plenty of tears for both sets of supporters in recent years as these once-great clubs sunk to previously unplumbed depths – the Third Division for the London side and the Second Division for the Maine Road club. But after winning promotion to the First Division last season, they are both going for a place in the Premier League with good reasons for optimism. City have finally found boardroom stability and a manager in Joe Royle who knows how to get the best out of his players – like Jeff Whitley (pictured) – while Paul Bracewell, Fulham's manager, has the backing of club chairman Mohamed Al Fayed. One man who knows both clubs well is Kit Symons, who left City for Fulham in the summer of 1998. He said: 'City have got off to a flying start and Joe Royle has done a great job. The whole club was turbulent when I was there, but now there is more stability and they are reaping the rewards. They really should be in the Premier League – and so should Fulham.'

'The set-up here is first-class and we've come a long way in a short time. There is no reason why we can't go all the way.'

The monster mash

The jumbo-budget update of the Japanese creature feature Godzilla lacks the energy and charm of the 1954 original but the state-of-the-art special effects are undeniably impressive. Director Roland Emmerich and producer and co-screenwriter Dean Devlin were the film-making duo behind Independence Day, so they know a thing or two about mounting scenes of widespread mayhem and destruction. As with that movie, convincing depth of character and plot detail are eschewed in Godzilla in favour of spectacularly staged set-pieces featuring the mighty mutant lizard.

SKY PREMIER SATURDAY 1ST 8.00PM

Go with the Flo

Tuesday sees the first of the season's clashes between Coventry and Chelsea (whose Tore Andre Flo is pictured). Visitors Chelsea have suffered some severe upsets – including a 4-1 drubbing by top-flight newcomers Sunderland – and are aiming for a return to their old formidable best.

SKY SPORTS 1 TUESDAY 4TH 7.00PM – LIVE

AN APOLOGY

In the last edition of Cable Guide we referred in the listing dated 5th December to a programme shown on The History Channel at 2.00pm, described as 'Biography Claus Von Bülow: profile of the murderer.' In fact, the description of that broadcast should have read, 'Profile of the man accused of attempted murder.' Mr Von Bülow has asked us to point out that he was in fact acquitted on overwhelming new scientific evidence. We apologise to Mr Von Bülow for the inaccurate description and regret any distress that has been caused to him and his family as a result.

Scorching drama

The makers of ER continue to pay tribute to the emergency services with the hard-hitting new series Third Watch. Featuring an excellent cast of stars in the making, the series ventures out onto the mean streets of New York to follow a group of firefighters, paramedics and police officers as they work the demanding afternoon-to-evening shift of the title. Filmed guerrilla-style in some of the toughest New York neighbourhoods, the series brilliantly conveys the edgy unpredictability of the urban underbelly.

Godzilla
Sky Premier 8.00pm
Attempting a big-budget update of the influential 1954 Japanese creature feature sounded like a foolhardy venture but Independence Day director Roland Emmerich pulls it off with aplomb. What it lacks in credible characters it makes up for in awe-inspiring effects.

FORD FOOTBALL SPECIAL: THE PREMIERSHIP YEARS SKY SPORTS 1 12NOON

by Ross Biddiscombe

Since its inception in 1992, the FA Premier League has helped change the face of top-flight football in England. Its memorable eight seasons – dominated by Manchester United – have seen a steady improvement in the football played, partly due to the influx of foreign stars such as Arsenal's Dutch master Marc Overmars (pictured, right). This fabulous four-hour special features action from the best players including Newcastle United captain Alan Shearer (pictured, left).

LIVE TEST CRICKET: SOUTH AFRICA V ENGLAND - FOURTH TEST SKY SPORTS 2 8.00AM, 11.00AM

It's the opening day of the fourth Test between South Africa and England in Cape Town, and hopefully Nasser Hussain's men will still have something to play for apart from pride. England lost the first Test in Johannesburg by an innings and 21 runs, with Alec Stewart's performance (pictured) one of the few highlights. But this was never going to be an easy tour for an England team labelled as the worst in the world up against the second-best.

MORNING

Time – that relentless force that transports us from what was to what will be. No one can say what time is. We do know what time it is. The year 2000 AD. For millions this is a landmark, a special moment in time. Far from all the commotion millions of people count their years very differently: for Buddhists the year 2000 came and went more than 500 years ago; in the Muslim world it is only 1420; whilst for many Jews it is the year 5760. Nevertheless the observance of this new millennium is a singular opportunity to listen to heartbeat of the planet. We invite you now to see the world through our eyes as we explore the epic adventure of life through time. Take time, add exploration and the quest for knowledge and you have the human story – the story of constant and accelerating change. We are at a critical point – on the verge of controlling nature and on the brink of destroying it. What kind of world will we leave to our children? – only time will tell. The year 2000 is a turning point: the dawn of a new millennium. A time to think about where we've come from and where we're going. Because you can't ignore it. National Geographic Channel is again leading the way into an exciting new age of adventure, exploration and discovery. Drawing on pre-eminent worldwide resources of talent and expertise; utilising rare and spectacular images, rivetting storytelling and innovative technology; benefiting from exclusive global access to the most visionary minds, most intriguing people, and most impossible-to-get-into places. Building on a tradition of making real news and history – whether it's deep beneath the ocean, high on a mountain top or soaring in space – the National Geographic Channel is committed to creating new ways of looking at, experiencing and understanding the ever-shrinking, ever-changing 21st century living world.

because times are changing.

LIVE FORD MONDAY NIGHT FOOTBALL: EVERTON V LEICESTER SKY SPORTS 1 5.30PM

The New Year is here and perhaps the new era for Everton will continue. The Goodison gang entertain Leicester City this evening with both teams happy to be in the top half of the Premier League and even looking towards Europe. Another streak of goal scoring from Kevin Campbell (pictured, left) could make the difference for the home side, while the form of the likes of midfielder Muzzy Izzet (pictured, right) has catapulted the visitors to the position of dark horses for honours.

Sky Premier 10.00pm
Director Adrian Lyne's adaptation of the Vladimir Nabokov novel, which concerns a middle-aged man's love for a precocious 12-year-old girl, remains faithful to its source, but it lacks the darkly perverse wit of Stanley Kubrick's compromised 1962 version.

GENERAL

Cold Feet Week
ITV2 9.00pm
It's the story of another bunch of middle-class friends behaving badly, yet this comedy drama series is cult viewing. With charismatic performances from Helen Baxendale and James Nesbitt as the ill-fated lovers, this is a welcome chance to relive series two over a week.

LIVE FORD FOOTBALL SPECIAL: COVENTRY CITY V CHELSEA SKY SPORTS 1 7.00PM

The holiday football programme continues with another crucial fixture in the chase for the Premier League title. It's time Gianluca Vialli's Chelsea put a run together and what better time than the first game of the new millennium? If Didier Deschamps (pictured, right) can pick up the pace in midfield and provide more goal chances then tonight's visit to Highfield Road, to take on Robbie Keane (pictured, left) and Coventry, could have the making of a vital victory for the Londoners.

LOVE STARS BY MARGIE THILLART

Aries

21 March-20 April ★★
 THIS is the perfect time to break bad habits and clarify life's purpose. In the best case scenario, you'll be honest with yourself and upfront with others. While your behaviour may cause an uproar, your strategy will pay off in spades.

Libra

24 September-23 October ★★
 AS YOU negotiate a passage between the old and the new, your emotions are likely to see-saw. On one hand there'll be pangs of regret about leaving the past behind, but on the other you'll shiver with excitement about future prospects.

Taurus

21 April-21 May ★★
 SATURN continues to hammer home its message, only because you are meant to learn it thoroughly. Things may take a little longer to sink in for your sign, but you'll enter the new millennium a much more enlightened person.

Scorpio

24 October-22 November ★★★
 SATURN is sending you on a spectacular journey and despite a few misgivings about the future, you'll know instinctively that you're in safe hands.

Gemini

22 May-21 June ★★
 YOUR dual personality may make you indecisive, if so seek help from a trusted friend. You could find yourself caught up in a situation that's morally wrong, yet part of you will be unable to resist an urge to break all the rules.

Sagittarius

23 November-22 December ★
 YOUR sign is due for a reality check and what better time to face the music than at the start of a new Millennium. Some of you will have to suffer the consequences of past actions soon, while others may be asked to honour a debt.

Cancer

22 June-23 July ★★
 YOUR erratic mood swings could frustrate others, so try to be more self-aware. An ideal way to start the new millennium is to take the focus off yourself and nurture close relationships. A generous spirit will make you more popular.

Capricorn

23 December-20 January ★★
 A TENDENCY to act first and think later could be your undoing. This month's stars range from rash to risky, suggesting that a little of your customary caution will come in handy. Take the middle road and you'll escape unscathed.

JANUARY BIRTHDAYS

6th Rowan Atkinson 7th Nicolas Cage
 8th David Bowie 10th Rod Stewart
 18th Kevin Costner 29th Tom Selleck

Sensational ★★★ Stimulating ★★ Satisfactory ★

Leo

24 July-23 August ★
 YOU love being master of your own domain and don't take too kindly to criticism from others. Hence, you may feel intimidated when people invade your space or question your motives. A little humility will go a long way this month.

Aquarius

21 January-19 February ★★★
 IF YOU want to get a head start on others, begin by making New Year resolutions now. There's enough leverage from the planets to provide impetus and motivation, but first you must clarify exactly what it is you want and need.

Virgo

24 August-23 September ★★
 YOU know how to fight the good fight, but you often look for trouble where it doesn't exist. Make it your New Year resolution to curb the paranoia and cut down on criticism of others. A window of opportunity is about to open up.

Pisces

20 February-20 March ★★
 IF YOU'RE waiting for word from an errant loved one, the silence is likely to be deafening. Fortunately, you're in practical mode this month and rather than worrying about those things you cannot change, you'll face squarely up to reality.

FILM

The Vanishing
FilmFour 1.50am

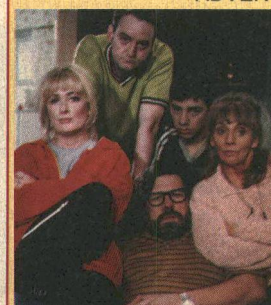

Such is the power of this masterly thriller, about a man whose life is consumed with discovering why his girlfriend disappeared, that Dutch director George Sluizer can be forgiven his ill-advised Hollywood remake. The film's perverse punch line has haunted many a viewer.

GENERAL

The Turn of the Screw
ITV2 11.00pm

His costume-drama wet-look aroused legions of female admirers in the BBC's lavish adaptation of Pride and Prejudice. The sight of Colin Firth in period clothing is likely to raise female temperatures again in this ITV production of Henry James's 19th century ghost yarn.

LIVE TENNIS: ATP TOURNAMENT EUROSPORT 3.00PM

The third day of competition at the Qatar Mobil Open, a warm-up event for the Australian Open. Britain's top player Tim Henman (pictured) often hits some good early season form, as proven by last year's runners-up slot in this tournament in Doha. He lost surprisingly to German Rainer Schuttler in the final before disappointing in the grand slam. To go one better here this time around would definitely boost his confidence for Melbourne in two weeks time.

MANCHESTER UNITED V VASCO DA GAMA EUROSPORT 10.00PM

Blues Brothers 2000
Sky MovieMax 10.00pm
The belated sequel to the 1980 cult hit lacks the funky ebullience of the original, and suffers from the absence of the late John Belushi, but it does boast some foot-stomping soul tunes and genuine laughs. Dan Aykroyd returns and John Goodman also stars.

Week 2

Saturday 8th January-Friday 14th January

The heat is (back) on

A rambunctious hybrid of a Club 18:30s beach game, It's a Knockout and a fly-on-the-wall docusoap, Sky One's Prickly Heat returns this week for a second series of sun, sea, sand and sauce. Bawdy former Big Breakfast presenter Denise Van Outen is Julian Clary's new co-host, so expect a surfeit of suggestive quips. The show is filmed on the sun-soaked beaches of Mallorca (which look especially inviting on a cold January evening) and sees another 32 eligible guys and girls being put through their paces in a parade of shamelessly silly games. And when the fun stops at the seaside the cameras follow the contestants to capture any nocturnal naughtiness they might get up to as they party their way around town.

SKY ONE FROM SUNDAY 9TH 9.00PM

Space is the place

In this mammoth-budget makeover of the Sixties series, the Robinson family, which is headed by William Hurt and Mimi Rogers (their screen daughter, Heather Graham, is pictured), agree to go on a mission to a distant planet in a bid to save Earth. But their journey goes disastrously awry when the villainous Dr Smith (Gary Oldman) sabotages their spacecraft. Familiarity with the cult series is not essential to enjoy this effects-laden action adventure, in which Friends pin-up Matt LeBlanc enjoys his first major film role.

SKY PREMIER
SATURDAY 8TH 8.00PM

Testing time

Friday sees the opening day of the fifth and final Test between South Africa and England in Pretoria. After the humiliating first Test, which South Africa won by an innings and 21 runs, England (whose Darren Gough is pictured) have had a tough time battling back into the series. And English fans, whose loyalty has been tested with every match, will be hoping to herald a new dawn for the national team with a climactic and resounding victory.

FIFA CLUB WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP: REAL MADRID V AFRICAN TEAM EUROSPORT 10.00PM

The FIFA Club World Championship in Brazil is still in the group stage and tonight's match features Real Madrid of Spain against the team nominated from Africa, playing in Sao Paulo. Although the Spanish giants severed links with Welsh coach John Toshack last November, they still have a British connection with former Liverpool favourite Steve McManaman (pictured) playing for them. Real could use a few wins in this invitation tournament to inspire them in La Liga back home.

I Know What You Did Last Summer
Sky MovieMax 9.00pm
This slasher flick may not benefit from the darkly ironic wit of writer Kevin Williamson's Scream, but there are some genuine jolts and the film is infected with a pungent sense of guilt, as four school friends are terrorised seemingly by the man they killed in a hit-and-run accident.

GENERAL

Invasion: Earth
Sci Fi 8.00pm
This 1997 six-part mini-series begins tonight. When a UFO is shot down over the Scottish highlands, an army officer, who went missing in 1945, is discovered. The nightmarish scenario of an imminent full-scale invasion of Earth begins to unfold with his story.

LIVE INTERNATIONAL TOURNAMENT OF MASPALOMAS EUROSPORT 7.30PM

The young person's guide to what's on this month

It's a dog's life

He's wide-eyed, loveable and ... pink! New on Cartoon Network is Courage the Cowardly Dog (starts Monday 10th, 4.30pm), the flappable canine with a nose for his owners' well-being. Courage was found by Muriel, alone and abandoned, and ever since then he's lived with her and Eustace, her bad-tempered husband. Getting into scrapes on their farm in Nowhere, USA, Courage regularly defends his owners from the paranormal elements that threaten their simple existence. He may be barking mad, but you'll love him!

The write stuff!

ARE YOU A POET ... and do you know it? We want all you wordsmiths out there to get writing and tell us, in the form of a poem, about your favourite programmes on cable television. The ten entries that we like the best will win an exclusive collection of prizes, including a Nickelodeon bag, Cartoon Network personal radio, Disney Channel T-shirt and Fox Kids mug. We will print the top entries in a future Power Cable! Send your poem to: Cable Guide/The Write Stuff! Competition, PO BOX 2176, London W1A 5TW with your name, age and address. Please specify your cable company on your entry. Closing date is 31 January 2000.

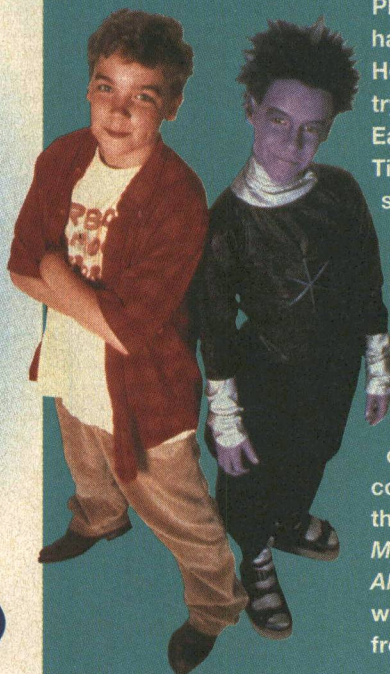

There once was a sponge...

WHAT did you say? A sponge who lives in a pineapple, works at a fast food restaurant, enjoys jellyfishing and is incurably optimistic? Mmmm ... sounds like Spongebob Square Pants! This new series on Nickelodeon (daily, 8.00am) introduces the wonderfully unique Spongebob – full of energy and ideas, you won't be able to resist soaking up his enthusiasm! Unfortunately, Spongebob's good intentions don't always pay off as planned, and his potential for disaster looms large ...

Don't forget to tune into Nickelodeon on New Year's Day for NICKELLENNIUM – with no breaks and no adverts, the whole day is devoted to children from all over the world and what they have to say!

He's out of this world

THERE'S something different about Tim Thompkins's best friend. It isn't just his clothes and it isn't just his hair – Tim's best mate just happens to be an alien ... and a purple alien at that! Pleskit (Ryan Cooley) hails from the planet Hevi-Hevi, but he is trying to live life on Earth as a normal kid. Tim (Daniel Clark), a sci-fi buff, becomes Pleskit's friend, and the duo embark on a fantastic journey through childhood as they grow up with more than a few comical – and cosmic – complications along the way. My Best Friend Is an Alien, Disney Channel, weekdays 5.30pm from Monday 10th.

NIGHT TIME

TENNIS: ADIDAS INTERNATIONAL TOURNAMENT EUROSPORT 5.00PM, 11.00PM

A week to go until the Australian Open begins and the top women players are already in the country taking part in this week's adidas International in Sydney. The emergence of Serena Williams late last season, from under the shadow of her older sister Venus, has put an exciting new complexion on the women's game. But compatriot Lindsay Davenport - last year's winner here - and Martina Hingis (pictured) will not make life easy for the Williams sisters.

The Official
10-Point Buck
Pocket Watch

A precision timepiece created by world-renowned wildlife artist Rick Fields.

Shown approximately actual size of
2" (5 cm) in diameter.

Quartz movement. Spring-action lid.

Leather pouch and chain. Rich with 22 carat gold accents.

Only in the wilderness are there moments when time seems to stand still. When a magnificent 10-point whitetailed buck pauses in a forest glade, brown eyes shining, antlers held high. When the only sound is a gentle breeze rustling the leaves. Now, in a powerful tribute to the great outdoors, the National Fish and Wildlife Foundation (USA) sponsors the creation of its first-ever pocket watch by world-renowned wildlife artist Rick Fields.

The Official 10-Point Buck Pocket Watch. Richly accented with 22 carat gold. The face dramatically portraying a majestic whitetailed buck. The spring-activated lid featuring an etching of a buck, specially designed to capture the distinctive look and feel of scrimshaw. And the minted medal of Franklin Mint Precision Pocket Watches set into the reverse of the watch.

Complete with golden watch chain and a handsome pouch. Give yourself the gift of time. Just £59, payable in monthly instalments.

SATISFACTION GUARANTEED. If you wish to return any Franklin Mint purchase, you may do so within 30 days of your receipt of that purchase for replacement, credit or refund.

LIVE ALFRED DUNHILL SOUTH AFRICAN CHAMPIONSHIPS SKY SPORTS 1 11.30AM				PLAYBOY TV/ ADULT CHANNEL ADD-ON CHANNEL
The PGA European Tour sets off on its journey round the world again, opening the millennium with the South African Championships, which is usually a place where homeboys like Ernie Els (pictured) gather in the early big cheques. Els returned from his honeymoon last year to beat Richard Kaplan and David Frost. This season starts with an early opportunity for England's Justin Rose, who was born here, to assert himself as a golfer of genuine talent.				10.00pm Freeview 10.05 Rendezvous 11.15 Eden 12midnight Freeview 12.10am Frisky Fraùleins 12.40 Lesbian Lust 12.55 Lesbian Fantasies 1.15 Girls Who Like Girls 2.15 FILM: Schoolgirl Memories 2.35 Kinky Clubbers 2.55-4.00am FILM: Reds in a Blaze of Glory Adult Nightview is now available as a TV on-demand service between 10.00pm and 4.00am at £3.95. Firestorm
Sky MovieMax 8.00pm
In-demand Australian cameraman Dean Semler returns to the director's chair for another environmentally aware thriller (his last directorial effort was the Steven Seagal eco-action outing The Patriot). Former NFL star Howie Long is a fireman fighting a forest blaze started by crooks.

GENERAL

Just Shoot Me
Paramount Comedy 8.30pm
From the writer-producer of The Larry Sanders Show and Frasier, Steve Levitan's fashion magazine sitcom has proved phenomenally successful in the States. With Laura San Giacomo and George Segal as its central players, this new series should be cult viewing.

When one door shuts ...

Cut from the same warmly whimsical cloth as It's a Wonderful Life, the romantic fantasy Sliding Doors is unfurled with great aplomb by first-time writer-director Peter Howitt, who is probably still best known to British audiences as the original Joey in the Scouse sitcom Bread. The often over-elaborate story is buoyed up by the excellent Gwyneth Paltrow (above), who gamely grapples with a London accent in a dual role (sort of) as PR executive Helen Quilley. After a particularly bad morning, her life splits in two and plays out in separate story strands: one charts how things would have turned out for her had she managed to catch a tube train, the other how events would have transpired had she missed it. The film is filled with identifiable incidents and credible characters, and Howitt consistently hits all the right feel-good buttons. John Hannah and John Lynch provide excellent support.

The Saints go marching to Newcastle's Toon

Southampton and Newcastle have both had to grind out results this season. But whereas the Saints (whose Dean Richards is pictured) started well and have stalled, the Magpies have improved on their poor early-season form after the arrival of new manager Bobby Robson.

Mummies dearest

The success of the recent effects-laden epic The Mummy proved that there is an interest in adventures involving embalmed ancient Egyptians. And an exciting and wildly imagined new animated series on Sky One puts the myth of the awakened mummy in an impressively imagined, modern-day context for kids. Produced and directed by Simpsons graduate Seth Kearsley, Mummies Alive follows 12-year-old San Francisco boy Presley Carnovan, whose body is inhabited by the spirit of the son of a Pharaoh. Various aggressors who are aware of this want to see Presley come to harm, and that's why he needs his four super-powered mummy friends to protect him.

3,500 GREAT REASONS

to buy the best value timeshare today!

When you join the Paradise Club you'll enjoy all the amazing benefits of RCI holiday exchanges.

Established well over 25 years ago, they are today the world's largest and most experienced organisation offering luxurious exchange holidays in over 3,500 fabulous resorts in over 85 different locations – Florida, the Caribbean, Australia, the Far East to name but a few. So how does it work?

It really is very simple – ask any of the two million or so holidaymakers who "swapped" their week(s) for another holiday location, last year alone! Holiday ownership in an RCI approved location opens the door to a wealth of breathtaking luxury holidays for you and your family for the rest of your life.

With a choice of two RCI approved, Gold Crown Award winning luxury resorts in Tenerife to enable you to qualify for these exchanges, don't you owe it to yourself and your family to see how luxurious and flexible holiday ownership can be – and how much it has changed over the past 10 years.

Full written details, an easy to understand information pack and a FREE VIDEO can be yours for the asking.

Write or telephone today, it really could improve your family's holiday outlook forever!

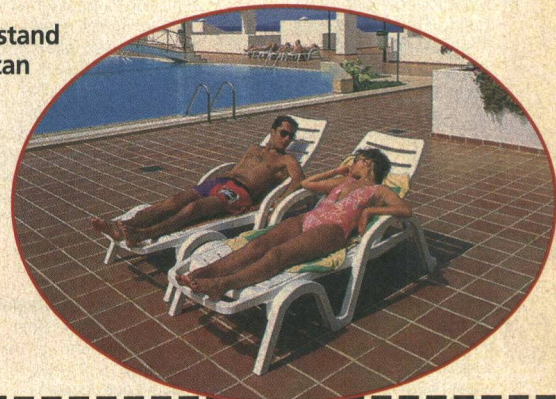

AND THERE'S NO MAJOR OUTLAY
with an affordable Paradise Club Finance Plan

New York Jets, Minnesota Vikings, Atlanta Falcons and Denver Broncos made it through last year. The latter two, of course, made it all the way to Miami to play out Super Bowl XXXIII. The highlight of the four matches last year was New York Jets' 34-24 win over Jacksonville Jaguars. The tension is unbearable but the play-off matches always produce frantic and high-scoring games and the millennium season fixtures promise to be no exception. Kevin Cadle and Nick Halling present all the live action.	5.40 Sci-Focus Special 6.00 Project UFO The Desert Springs Incident An unidentified flying object pursues a theatrical agent and a writer. 7.00 Fantasy Island Wishboned A woman finds the perfect dinner disturbing, while a disgruntled businessman is forced to face the truth. 8.00 FILM: Journey to the Centre of the Earth David Dundara, Farrah Förke, Kim Miyori Adventure loosely based on Jules Verne's classic tale.  Is the Bobby Robson magic really working at Newcastle? The ex-England boss lifted his team out of the relegation zone shortly after his arrival - and reinstated Rob Lee (pictured, left) - but only a sustained winning streak will satisfy the Geordie masses. This afternoon's visit of Southampton is the kind of game the Magpies should be winning if they are to gain a place in Europe next season. But the experience of men like Mark Hughes (pictured, right) has helped the Saints in these crucial away fixtures. 					10.00pm Freeview 10.05 FILM: Hungry For You 11.40 Adult Stars Close Up 12midnight Freeview 12.10am Presenters Passions 12.35 Frisky Hot Fräuleins 1.05 FILM: Cirque De Sex 2.20 Naughty Nellie The Nympho Nurse 2.45- 4.00am FILM: Wishbone	12midnight The Ten Minute Preview 12.10am FILM: New Revelations 1.00 The Five Minute Freeview 1.05 FILM continues 1.20 FILM: Adult Feature 2.30 FILM: Caged Beauty 3.40-4.00am Satindar

Last year's singles winners - Yevgeny Kafelnikov for the men and Martina Hingis for the women - are not the favourites to retain their titles. America's Andre Agassi has completed an amazing return to form in the last six months and Serena Williams is almost as exciting in the women's game. It should be an enthralling two weeks. Britain's Greg Rusedski (pictured) could also be a contender. RALLY: DAKAR - CAIRO EUROSPORT 7.30AM, 10.00PM, 12MIDNIGHT

It's the 22nd occasion that drivers and bikers have set off on this awesome journey of discovery. This rally starts in Paris, heads toward Dakar, then across six countries, with a spectacular finish at the foot of the pyramids on 23 January. It's the 11th stage today and those contestants still on the road speed from Tumu in Niger to Wah El Keibir in Libya. The terrain is both feared and keenly anticipated by the competitors, who will relish the challenge.

Molly's Lemon Roast Chicken by Peter Gordon

GRAN made this with kumera, the 'native' potato of New Zealand, which is a rich, almost purple, colour. In fact, it came with the first canoes from Polynesia, but the New Zealand variety is different from what you'll find elsewhere in the Pacific. You can't buy kumera in Britain, but it is becoming easier to get hold of sweet potatoes. The best ones are orange-fleshed and usually come from Israel or South Africa. In winter, parsnips make a great substitute. Gran's chicken is best eaten with a crunchy green salad.

FOOD THIS MONTH'S MOUTH-WATERING RECIPE

PHOTOS: HODDER & STOUGHTON, CARLTON FOOD NETWORK

Molly's Lemon Roast Chicken

Ingredients

(Serves 4)

1 large free-range or corn-fed chicken

Salt and pepper

150ml (5fl oz) best olive oil

1kg (2½ lb) sweet potatoes

½ cup fresh oregano leaves

2 teaspoons fresh rosemary leaves

2 medium-sized juicy lemons

Method

1. Preheat the oven to 220°C/435°F/Gas mark 7.
2. Remove the legs from the bird and cut them in two through the knee joint. Remove the wings and the breasts and cut these in two also. (To make white stock for use on another occasion, put the carcass into a pot with some carrots, lemons, herbs and onions, cover with cold water, bring to the boil and simmer for two hours.)
3. Season the joints lightly with salt and freshly ground black pepper

- and brown in a frying pan with a little of the oil.
4. Peel the sweet potatoes and cut into 2cm (¾ in) cubes. Mix with the herbs, a little salt and pepper and half the oil and put in a ceramic roasting dish.
 5. Wipe the lemons and cut them in half lengthways, then slice finely.
 6. Place the leg joints on top of the potatoes, sprinkle with the lemon pieces and roast for 30 minutes.
 7. Add the chicken breasts, drizzle the remaining oil on them and cook for a further 30 minutes. The chicken is cooked if the juices run clear when the flesh is pricked.

● Peter Gordon's Pacific Food, CFN, 1.30pm from Monday 10th

Totally tropical taste

This will make your taste buds tingle! New and spicy Caribbean Kitchen is on CFN this month (Thursdays 4.00pm from 13th). Floella Benjamin presents this 13-part series exploring Caribbean cooking in Britain. 'Caribbean cuisine contains influences from around the world mingled together,' says Floella, who also visits Antigua to sample the flavours of traditional dishes.

AS LONG as the light doesn't hit me, I'll be just fine,' jokes David Boreanaz, star of the Buffy the Vampire Slayer spin-off, Angel, which begins on Sky One on 7 January (9.00pm). It's been a long road for Angel. The mysterious figure who watched over Buffy was quickly revealed to be a vampire, but because a gypsy curse had been placed on him giving him back his soul and feelings, he was really her ally.

Despite the age difference (Angel is over 240 years old), Slayer and vampire fell for each other, but when they made love on Buffy's 17th birthday, the curse was lifted, and Angel reverted to his old, terrifying evil ways. To save the world, Buffy had to kill her lover, even though his soul was returned to him seconds before the end.

To her amazement, Angel was returned from Hell, although it was clear that things could never be the same between them. At the end of Buffy's third season, Angel made the painful decision to leave Sunnydale and Slayer behind and travel to Los Angeles.

Angel is now a dark avenger of the night, helping the hopeless. He's not sure why he's been returned from Hell, but is trying to get rid of the guilt he feels for years he spent wreaking terror. To guide him, Angel has been sent the mysterious Doyle (Glenn Quinn), half-human, half-demon, whose visions of people in trouble usually present enough of a clue for Angel to travel through the sewers and subways of LA to come to the rescue. He also makes a friend within the LA Police Department, Kate Lochley (Elizabeth Rohm), who originally pegs Angel for a murderer.

The other regular will be familiar to fans of Buffy – cheerleader Cordelia Chase (Charisma Carpenter), who has come to LA seeking fame and fortune as an actress, but discovers that vampires and demons are just as nasty in the big city.

Events in Sunnydale still have repercussions on Angel: Oz (Seth Green) pays Angel a visit, bringing an unusual present from Buffy in the third episode, which also sees the return of Spike (James Marsters), while the eighth episode of both shows form one two-hour story, with Angel returning to Sunnydale and Buffy travelling to LA. Darker in all senses than Buffy, but tinged with irreverent humour, Angel tackles themes that the original series could not. Doyle says that the powers that returned Angel from Hell saw potential in him – and as the series gets better by the week, so will we all.

TIME MACHINE

TIME TUNNEL

TWO MEN lost in time, their only contact with the present a scientific research station in the middle of the desert. That's the premise of producer Irwin Allen's cult Sixties series The Time Tunnel (Sci-Fi, Tuesdays, Thursdays). Inventors Dr Tony Newman and Dr Doug Phillips demonstrate the Time Tunnel to prove it works before their $7.5b funding is cut off. While they successfully get back to 1912 (on board the Titanic), the scientists left behind, led by Lt Gen Heywood Kirk, are unable to bring them back to the present day. Each attempt sends them spiralling through time to some new destination in the far future or the distant past. Much as early Doctor Who alternated historically themed stories with sci-fi, one week Doug and Tony would be meeting Joshua at the Battle of Jericho, the next fighting aliens. As in his other series (he was also responsible for Lost in Space, Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea and Land of the Giants), Allen had no hesitation in using stock footage from earlier films, and this means that The Time Tunnel never lacks pace and style (even if it was someone else's!).

LIVE EURO TOUR GOLF: SOUTH AFRICAN OPEN SKY SPORTS 1 11.30AM

Sunshine golf from the southern hemisphere as the South African Open at Johannesburg's Rand Park Club enters day two. Local talent David Frost (pictured) defends the title he won last year after beating India's Jeev Singh. It's too early for the likes of Colin Montgomerie or Lee Westwood to be playing as they tend to like a long winter break, but the talent pool in Europe is so strong that Frost will face stiff opposition for this year's winning cheque.

	 Tonight's First Division action is a battle of two strugglers – Swindon at home to Crystal Palace. Swindon favourite Bobby Howe (pictured, left) is among the men charged with lifting Town from the bottom of the league, where they have languished for too long this season. Meanwhile, former Eire international defender Terry Phelan (pictured, right) has added experience to the Palace set-up, and looks likely to help keep the Eagles away from relegation at the end of the season. 				10.00pm Freeview 10.05 FILM: The Night That Never Happened 11.40 Sex Court 12.00am Freeview 12.10am Naughty Nostalgia 12.35 Wanna Be a Porn Star? 1.05 Adult Feature 1.20 FILM: Sunset Rides Again 2.30 Girl Hunt 2.50-4.00am FILM: Shock	12.00am The Ten Minute Preview 12.10am Stripper of the Year 12.20 The Omar Show 12.45 FILM: Breaking Up 1.00 The Five Minute Freeview 1.05 FILM continues 2.00 The Five Minute Freeview 2.05 Adult Feature 2.30 FILM: Women in Black 3.40-4.00am Vera

Saturday 22nd January-Monday 31st January

Holiday horror

The National Geographic premiere of Avalanche! investigates the devastating force of these sudden and ferocious slides of snow. It includes harrowing first-hand accounts from a group of survivors who were buried by an avalanche, while footage from the video diary of a British family, who witness an avalanche while holidaying in the Austrian ski resort of Galtur, lends the programme a compelling immediacy.

NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC TUESDAY 25TH 10.00PM

Jeff's double trouble

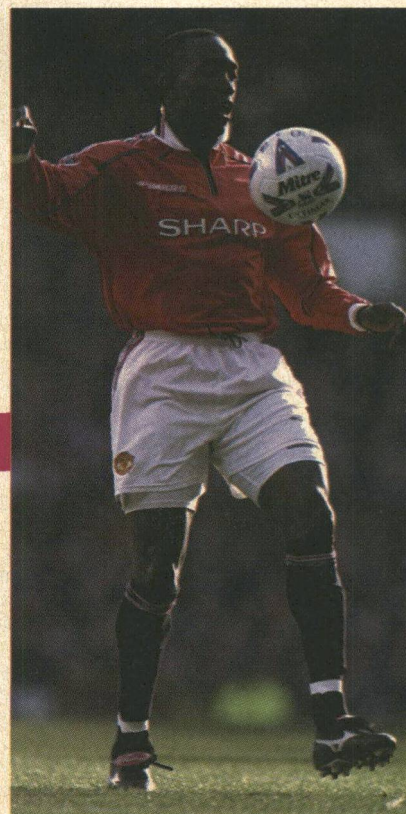

The delightfully dense plot of Joel and Ethan Coen's The Big Lebowski sees LA slacker Jeff Lebowski (Jeff Bridges, left) get mistaken for an identically named millionaire with a debt-ridden wife. The mix-up sets in motion a series of perversely funny events.

All the Dwight moves

Arsenal descend on Old Trafford this Monday keen to avenge their 2-0 home defeat against Manchester United (whose Dwight Yorke is pictured, right). It's a fixture of pure Premier League pedigree and is sure to be a passionately contested match between two of the top flight's fiercest rivals.

borrow £20,000
for just £187 a month

If you're thinking about borrowing a large sum of money but you don't want to lose control of your own finances, then it makes sense to talk to someone you know you can trust. Someone like Black Horse Finance.

We have your interests in mind and you can depend on us to offer you a safe and responsible way to borrow the amount you need.

With our secured Homeowner Loan you could afford to purchase almost anything you have your eye on, or you could reorganise other loans and credit into one affordable monthly repayment.

You can borrow from £20,000 to £50,000 at 9.9% APR (variable), and choose to spread the repayments for up to 20 years. Loans from £3,000 to £19,900 are also available at other rates. An optional Payment Protection Plan can cover your payments in the event of death, illness, accident, compulsory redundancy (or hospitalisation if self-employed).

If you would like to apply for a loan, you can call us free on 0800 378 151 9am-9pm Mon-Fri, 10am-5pm Sat-Sun or return the coupon. We won't ask you for an interview or charge an arrangement fee.

	LIVE MANCHESTER UNITED V ARSENAL SKY SPORTS 1 7.00PM   Perhaps an early Premier League decider as the Toyota Cup winners Manchester United entertain Arsenal at Old Trafford. The Gunners - who made a surprise exit from the Worthington Cup - have had more time to focus on reclaiming the title than the globetrotters from Manchester. Nevertheless, no quarter will be asked or given and the key men will probably be the likes of Dwight Yorke (pictured, left) for the home team and the mercurial Dennis Bergkamp (pictured, right) for the London club. STAR OF THE MONTH

LAURA SAN GIACOMO

OTHERWISE KNOWN AS Julia Roberts's prostitute room-mate in the hit romantic comedy Pretty Woman, and a news journalist reluctantly working on her father's (George Segal) fashion magazine in the sitcom Just Shoot Me (Paramount Comedy Channel, starts Friday 14th, 8.30pm). AGE 38 BACKGROUND A third-generation Italian-American, San Giacomo was born in West Orange, New Jersey. The oldest of three children, she studied drama for four years before working in regional theatre and off-Broadway productions. The actress got her breakthrough role in Steven Soderbergh's acclaimed sex, lies and videotape, playing a barmaid who has an affair with her sister's husband. Film fans will also know her from Under Suspicion, with Liam Neeson, and Once Around, in which she played Holly Hunter's younger sister. On TV, she has guested on Miami Vice and The Equalizer, and appeared in the Stephen King mini-series The Stand. FAMILY San Giacomo lives in Los Angeles with her son. WATCH OUT FOR With Friends Like These, a Penny (Big) Marshall production in which San Giacomo appears alongside Elle MacPherson and Adam Arkin.

Indie auteur John Sayles skilfully blends the emotional complexity of a good novel with the accessible concerns of a soap opera in this densely textured drama, which examines such heavyweight concepts as cause and effect and the subjective nature of shared memories.

LIVE SNOOKER: REGAL WELSH OPEN
SKY SPORTS 3 1.00PM

Wales might not have a chance on the international stages of football or rugby, but when it comes to snooker, left-handed Mark Williams is up there with the golden heroes of the past such as Ray Reardon, Terry Griffiths and Doug Mountjoy. Williams beat Stephen Hendry (pictured) in a memorable 9-8 final last year to win the Regal Welsh Open at the Cardiff International Arena and will, no doubt, be intent on repeating that feat this week for his home fans.

EURO TOUR GOLF: HEINEKEN CLASSIC

SKY SPORTS 1 7.00AM

Australia's majestic Vines Resort in Perth is the venue for this week's PGA European Tour Heineken Classic where Jarrod Moseley (pictured) is the defending champion. The second-year pro came from five strokes behind the leaders to beat off Ernie Els and Bernhard Langer in a remarkable finish before a home crowd. Moseley is one of a string of talented young Australians on the Tour at the moment although another home victory is probably only an outside bet.

LIVE NATIONWIDE LEAGUE: CHARLTON V FULHAM SKY SPORTS 3 7.00PM

This is one First Division London derby that has never been linked to Premier League football before - high-flying Charlton and multi-million pounders Fulham get it on at The Valley tonight and promotion is definitely in both their sights. Charlton won friends but too few games in their recent spell in the top flight and now rely on players like midfield man Shaun Newton (pictured, left). Fulham, meanwhile, have money, experienced players and lots of goal scorers including Barry Hayles (pictured, right).

	 There are no easy wins on the US PGA Tour these days. Just ask Rocco Mediate (pictured, left). He was one of the brightest stars of the Tour when he first became a professional in the mid-eighties, but then suffered a near career-ending injury. Last year, he came to the hugely-demanding TPC course in Scottsdale for the Phoenix Open and beat Justin Leonard by two strokes to win the event. It's day three of the $3.2 million event from Arizona where Mediate will continue his defence of the title. 				10.00pm Freerive 10.05 Passion Cove 11.00 Best of Nightcalls US 99 12midnight Freerive 12.10am Neil Down - Sex Therapist 12.35 Premier Strip 12.50 FILM: Sexscape 1.55 New Model File 2.20 Secret Services 3.40-4.00am Working Women Adult Nightview is now available as a TV on-demand service between 10.00pm and 4.00am at £3.95. Jeff Clarke shows you how to Master your computer in just 2 hours!

"I finally get it, after struggling with my computer company's instruction manual... I have finally found a book that tells me exactly how to do the things I need to do" R BROWN, LONDON

"My son accused me of being a 'technophobe' so to show an old dog can still learn new tricks, I bought your course. And now, my son comes to me for computer advice" J HANSEN, SUFFOLK

GET RESULTS LIKE THESE IN JUST TWO HOURS OR YOUR MONEY BACK

ARE YOU afraid of your computer? Worried about pressing the wrong button and the whole thing 'crashing'? If so, you are not alone. Thousands of people around the country have expensive computer systems, systems they simply do not know how to use properly. There are thousands more who are even scared to buy their first computer.

But help is now at hand. There is a new course for beginners that, not only tells you what equipment you need, but it shows you how to completely master your computer in just 2 hours. Yes, believe it or not, you will master your computer in just 2 hours.

WHY IS THIS COURSE SO SPECIAL?

Unlike other courses, this one really is for true beginners. You do not need to know a thing. You don't even need to know how to switch your computer on, this course starts right at the beginning and builds your skills step by step.

Even if you don't have a computer, this course tells you exactly what equipment you need and how to buy it THE CHEAPEST WAY. And, it tells you what you need to know so the salesman's technical jargon won't bamboozle you.

It is so simple and easy to follow. Just start at chapter one and work through the course. It takes just two hours and before long, you WILL have mastered skills you NEVER dreamed of AND we guarantee you will enjoy every minute of it.

You won't be baffled by technical terms. The course is written the way we speak - in straightforward English. Sure, you will learn new terms along the way, but they will be explained in language you can understand.

At only £9.95, this course offers unbeatable value for money. The whole family could become computer experts for less than £10. And, in the unlikely circumstances that you are not completely satisfied with the course, you can send it back for a full refund.

BECOME A COMPUTER WHIZ IN JUST TWO HOURS!

It may sound incredible, but after just two hours, you will be able to do all this and more:

Type and print all your own letters with no spelling mistakes or grammatical errors - it's much easier and neater than handwriting and looks very impressive.

Get to grips with the latest software... word processing... spreadsheets... accounts... desktop publishing... even games! Learn how to create Christmas and Birthday cards, calendars and posters. Design your own letterhead and business cards in minutes and at a fraction of the cost of external printers.

Manage your home finances with the touch of a button. If you run a business from home, have your accounts and payroll calculated in seconds with the latest business software.

Discover how to use the World Wide Web (www) and tap into THE BIGGEST SOURCE OF INFORMATION ON THIS PLANET. You won't believe how easy it is. Learn how to send e-mails to anyone you want all around the world - It's so simple and so quick, you'll soon wonder how you managed without. Send photos to friends and family anywhere in the world in colour and IN SECONDS.

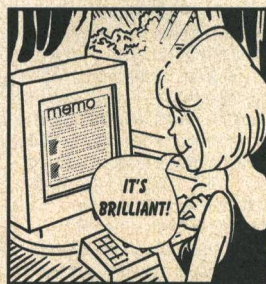

Don't waste money on a fax machine - use your computer instead, the course will show you how.

Learn a few simple tips on getting FREE software AND how to make your equipment perform faster and more effectively.

Just think, in two hours, you could be doing all of this and more. You will be amazed at your own progress and fascinated by a whole new world available to you. Keep up with your children or grandchildren - you will be able to help them with their computer problems. Don't miss out, it's never too late to start - send for your copy TODAY.

FULL MONEY BACK GUARANTEE

If after trying the course you are not completely satisfied, you may return it anytime within ONE YEAR for a full refund. You do not need to give any reason, just send it back and you will be fully refunded.

FILM

Chariots of Fire
Sky Cinema 4.00pm
This epic British movie tells the true story of two very different athletes as they train for the 1924 Olympics. The film won Oscars for Vangelis's stirring synth-based score and Colin Welland's fine screenplay, and was also the surprise recipient of the best picture award.

Neil Morrissey's Dive to Shark City
UK Horizons 9.35pm
Far from the domestic disharmony of Men Behaving Badly, the actor Neil Morrissey reveals he's nothing like the TV character that's made him famous. Forget Tony's trivial pursuits and open your mind to Morrissey venturing into idyllic Pacific waters in search of sharks.

R.I.P LIVE TV

SO, IT'S farewell to LIVE TV, which has now become, I guess, DEAD TV. I know the channel had its critics but LIVE TV never pretended to be the Open University, and I will miss it.

It's a shame there's no room for a channel that never took itself too seriously, had an eye for off-the-wall ideas and lived its brief life with a cheeky smile on its face. Good taste it wasn't, but it's a hard act to follow!

B Preston, Wales

● Congratulations, you've won our £50 prize for best letter!

OVER THE HILL?

I'M DEVASTATED to hear that after nine seasons Sky One has no plans to show the next season of Beverly Hills 90210. I have watched the show right from the very first episode on Sky One and season 10 will be the last one ever! Does Sky One plan to get the rights? I'm sure a lot of the show's fans will also be devastated as we were left with such a cliffhanger – what happens to Kelly after the shooting?

J Bennett, e-mail

● Sky One tells us there are no current plans to buy season 10, and replies: 'There has been a multitude of good teen productions from America of late and Sky One is delighted to have chosen some of the best series set to be screened in the New Year. Unfortunately, Beverly Hills 90210 has not rated terribly well over the past couple of years so we have decided to change the programme in this time slot.'

ELEGANTLY REMEMBERED

I READ that VH1 in Australia had an INXS day on the anniversary of Michael Hutchence's death (22 November). Why didn't we?

Alaina Henderson, Bristol

● VH1 in the UK are celebrating Michael's life and work with an INXS night on his birthday, 22 January. See listings for details, Alaina.

Driving Force: the late Payne Stewart's 'style and flair' will be sadly missed by golf viewers

SKY'S THE LIMIT

DOES Sky One think that its viewers are stupid? After getting into the two new series Futurama and Family Guy, Sky One repeated these shows in the middle of the series. Can Sky One not manage the simple task of showing a series in the correct order from beginning to end? Frankly, it's not good enough.

Emily Rogers, Wiltshire

● Sky One tells us that all the episodes of the first seasons of Futurama and Family Guy were shown. The second season of Futurama is due to be screened in February and the new season of Family Guy will be shown on Sky One early this year.

FIGHTING TALK

OWNING a computer console, I am used to people saying that gory games breed killers. But after reading Steve Byrne's letter (December Viewers' Views), I felt that I had to reply on behalf of all children who like Pokémon. Watching people catching and training creatures to fight does not make us want to go out and try it ourselves. A couple of characters in Pokémon try to steal a creature and always end up failing. Isn't this teaching us not to steal? Pokémon is not the terrible cartoon it's made out to be, it's just another cartoon.

TRIBUTE TO PAYNE

I WOULD like to express my thanks and congratulations to Sky Sports for honouring the golfer Payne Stewart. I have been an avid viewer of golf for four years now and always looked forward to seeing Sky's coverage of great tournaments like the Ryder Cup and great players such as Payne Stewart who added so much colour and flair to the game. Sky Sport's programme (29 October) was a fitting tribute to a great player. As a golfer we looked forward to watching, he will be sadly missed by the golf-viewing community.

Lee Fitzjohn, Portsmouth

HOG WATCH

I AM thrilled that TNT is showing The Dukes of Hazzard. Watching it again reminds me of being a little kid when I used to watch it every Saturday tea-time. Each episode seems to have withstood the test of time, too, despite Bo Duke's haircut. I just wish that TNT would put it on a bit earlier.

Alison Flind, e-mail

● TNT informs us that as the channel only broadcasts from 9.00pm and occasionally shows a film lasting three hours, midnight is the only slot that allows The Dukes of Hazzard to be shown at a regular time.

THE NEW PROS BEAT THE CONS

I HAVE really enjoyed Sky One's series CI5: The New Professionals. I am a huge fan of the original series and was somewhat dubious that anyone could successfully follow Martin Shaw and Lewis Collins, but Colin Wells and Kal Weber have done an admirable job. How about bringing Bodie and Doyle back for a guest appearance, and how about some romance for Curtis and Keel?

Joanne Wall, e-mail

● Sky One tells us that the producers of CI5: The New Professionals are hoping to make another series of the show, but Sky can't commit to buying it as yet.

THE DARKNESS AND THE CROW

I HAVE been following the series Dark Shadows. I love it. But it's been taken off the air by Sci-Fi. Will it be back?

John Dickie, Scotland

● Sci-Fi replies: 'We are really pleased that you enjoyed Dark Shadows so much, John. Unfortunately, after transmitting all 1224 episodes, our licence to show it has now expired! Sorry.'

WHY has The Crow:

Stairway to Heaven been taken off Sci-Fi? It stopped showing, with no explanation about whether this is the end of the series, if there is another series or when it may be back.

Rachael Kerslake
Gloucester

● Sci-Fi replies:

'The Crow: Stairway To Heaven is a 22-episode series, and sadly the last episode, Gathering Storm, was shown on 29 October. We're not sure at the moment whether a second series will be made – negotiations are still underway Stateside. But rest assured there will be a second chance to catch Eric Draven and company in February.'

BUFFY AND ANGEL UNITE

WHAT a fantastic finale to the third season of Buffy the Vampire Slayer (26 November). Each episode, right from the original pilot, just gets better and better. Sky One has done a great job showing it twice a week, but how is Sky going to show both Buffy and the new spin-off series Angel? In America Buffy is shown followed by Angel, as several episodes cross over (a story starts in Buffy and is concluded in Angel). Are the shows going to be run simultaneously here as well?

Carlo, e-mail

● Check out Sky One on Friday nights, Carlo, plus our features on pages 6-7 and 143!
